

Halloween Will Be Spookier Than Ever

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau
Pawnee City — Like they say in the spirit world, there's no ghouls like an old ghouls.

So, scarier than ever this Halloween is this town's spooking-dubbed Spooks Anonymous. The squaks of the group's "very haunted" house will be squeakier, the crawling things will be crawler, the corpses will be corpses. "We've learned several new tricks since setting up the first house for the Boy Scouts five years ago," recalled George Gilmore, a printer when not hohobbin' with his eight fellow goblins. "A few church groups asked to go through the next year and it just sort of spread. This Halloween they're coming from as far as Lincoln, and (with witch's cackle) we'll see that they all get a thrill or two."

Teaming up with the spiders, rodents and wall-climbing reptiles is an old farmhouse that obviously had a few ghosts even before the Pawnee men's pranks. Owner Virgil Taylor agreed that its aging stone and long rutted lane made it a natural spine-tingler.

"Practically every door is trapped and it takes six of us to make all the rats run, rock the rocking chair and jump the dummies," chuckled auto partsman Paul Bennett. Then, with demonic pride: "Every string is pulled from the outside and there are no lights but flashlights, so the visitors actually see none."

Others of the phantom plotters are Bill Welch, Jim Marshall, Lou Haverkamp, Harold Howard, Darrell Thiemann, Earl Perry and Myron Mason. They make no charge for their "services," although materials amount to $25 or so annually.

"As haunters we always have more fun than the haunted," explained Gilmore. "A couple of times I got to be the corpse and you should have heard the screams when I suddenly sat up... that's really livin'!"

Government Hasn't Yet Given Up Base Lease

By BOB SCHREFF
Star Staff Writer

The federal government does not have to give up its lease of Lincoln Air Force Base property when the base is deactivated and has not yet given any formal notice that it will.

Under the present lease arrangement with the city, the government can use the base—most property east of the north-south Baker Ave., excluding the Air National Guard area and the property given over to the Airport Authority in 1961—as an air force base or other military and governmental purposes until June 30, 2050.

The United States can terminate the lease on 30 days notice. The city cannot.

The proviso "other military and governmental purposes" opens a wide area for speculation.

Some suggested uses, such as the location of a Job Corps training center, could properly fit into continued federal control of the base.

Others, including industrial development and the location of state institutions, could be attained only if the government gave up its lease.

Talks Stated
Perhaps some questions will be answered after continued talks with Don Bradford, director of economic adjustment for the Defense Department.

Bradford's office assists communities with deactivating air bases and he and representatives of the General Services Administration and the Office of Economic Opportunity will be in Lincoln Sunday and Monday to discuss LAFB deactivation with the advisory committee of Team.

The committee is the coordinating agency for finding re-uses for base facilities and acts in a liaison capacity between planning consultants and the Lincoln Airport Authority and the City Council.

Committeemembers would not speculate earlier this week whether Bradford intends to talk about future uses of the base. "We really don't know just what he has on his mind," one committeeman said.

No Indications
And there has been no indication, either from local or federal sources, that Bradford's visit will signal any formal steps taken by the government either to keep the lease in effect or to give the property back to the city.

City spokesmen report that in spite of the announcement of the base closing almost one year ago, there has been not one formal step taken by the government to return the land.

There have been, said one spokesman, only "blithe assurances" given by local air force officers that the property would be returned to the city to do with what it wishes.

Mayor Dean Petersen indicated at a Hospital Council meeting this week that he was not certain the city would get the base. The mayor's phrase at the meeting, discussing possible base use for retarded children, was: "If and when we get it..."

Sorensen as treasurer is responsible for payment.

Check-writing duties were transferred Oct. 1 from the State Auditor's office to the newly created administrative services department headed by Townsend.

Sorensen pointed out that state law requires balances be struck on the first day of December, March, June and September or "as often as required."

"It's been a long-standing policy to strike monthly balances," the treasurer said, "and I see no reason to change policy with the shift in check-writing duties."

Sorensen indicated that if the Administrative Services Department is four or five or more days late coming up with end of the month balances, then next month's warrants may be equally late in getting out.

Sorensen said as far as he knew Townsend's department distributed the October payroll Friday, adding, "About 2,500 general expenditure warrants went through today."

The next state institutions payroll is due out Nov. 8. Last month it was delayed several days because of an electronic computer breakdown in Townsend's department.

Sorensen said it is unlikely any funds are overdrawn this early in the fiscal year, but added:

The treasurer is legally liable for any warrants paid on overdrawn accounts and striking a monthly balance between the check-writing agency and the treasurer's office is just good business procedure."

UNDER STUDY... Double Amputee May Be Spaceman

Monterey, Calif. (AP) — A 32-year-old Navy flier who lost his lower legs in a crash said confidently Friday he's ready to match any normal two-legged rival in competition to become an astronaut.

Lt. Frank K. Ellis, whose legs are artificial from just below the knees suppressed his excitement on hearing that a Navy board is considering his application.

But his irrepressible confidence and humor burst all bounds when asked if an amputee had any chance of actually making the grade.

"All I lost were some dirty socks and smelly feet," the married father of four children said by way of laughing off his heroic act at Point Mugu, Calif., in 1962.

Ellis stayed with the disabled jet he was ferrying from Norfolk, Va., to keep it from spreading death through a trailer camp—then ejected too late, only 65 feet up.

"Basically, most of us have some really lousy concepts about the abilities of the amputee," the 150-pound airman said. He is studying at the Navy postgraduate school at Monterey, toward a master's in aeronautical engineering.

"The only difference between me and any normal man is running and jumping ability. There is no change in my flying ability."

He figures he's about a year away from his master's.

"But I'm so anxious to be an astronaut, he quickly added, "that I'd join tomorrow and to heck with the master's."

LT. ELLIS... is an active pilot.

Canterbury Cathedral Desecrated

Canterbury, England (AP) — Ancient Canterbury Cathedral was desecrated with red and blue paint Friday in furious reaction to the archbishop's statement that force might be justifiable in Rhodesia.

"It looks like the work of a madman," said one cathedral official.

The word "peace" was daubed in huge red letters across a $400 tapestry behind the high altar. St. Augustine's stone chair, on which many of Canterbury's 100 archbishops have been enthroned over the centuries, was reported badly damaged. Legend says this cathedral treasure dates back to the 13th Century or earlier. The nearby tomb of Edward, the black prince, 14th Century warrior son of King Edward III, was sprayed in blue paint. A lectern Bible was streaked with red paint.

Crypt Service
Cathedral officials discovered the damage immediately after an early morning communion service, held in a crypt below. They called the police and closed the building to visitors.

While some detectives took scrapings of the paint away for tests, others mingled with shoppers in the busy streets of Canterbury, watching for people with any sign of red or blue paint on clothes or hands. Still other police took photographs of the damage and sought fingerprints.

Dr. Michael Ramsey, archbishop of Canterbury and spiritual head of the Church of England, was in London at Lambeth Palace, his official residence.

A spokesman said, "Such vandalism is clearly the work of thoughtless hooligans which can serve no useful purpose."

Justifies Force
In a speech to the British Council of Churches at Aberdeen Tuesday, Dr. Ramsey said that if the British government were to use force if the white Rhodesian government declared independence, "then as Christians, we have to say that it will be right to use force to that end."

Dr. Ramsey's spokesman said the archbishop would go to Canterbury Saturday to attend his diocesan conference.

He is due to preach in a small village church near Canterbury Sunday and unlikely to appear at any cathedral services. When in Canterbury, the archbishop lives in the old palace, within the high-walled Cathedral enclosure.

Fired By Allied Artillery Force

... 230 MISSIONS FLOWN

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—Shells fired by a supporting artillery unit killed six paratroopers and wounded three of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division in a drive against the Viet Cong, a military spokesman disclosed Friday.

A strike by B52 jet bombers from Guam headed a day of intensive aerial action against the Viet Cong. The target of the B52s was a suspected guerrilla storage area 45 miles northwest of Saigon. A scheduled check of the area by Vietnamese troops was called off because of bad weather.

230 Sorties
Briefing officers said a total of 230 combat sorties were flown across South Viet Nam in the 24-hour period.

The artillery incident developed during an operation in the Song Am River basin, 12 miles northwest of Qui Nhon, a port on the South China Sea.

Helicopter-borne units of the 101st had killed 37 Viet Cong and were trying to root out the rest of a Red detachment whose fire has caused American pilots to dub the area "Sniper Valley."

The spokesman said the six paratroopers who were killed and the three wounded were members of a squad that inadvertently moved into the artillery's line of fire.

Unit Unidentified
He did not identify the artillery unit. Only U.S. forces were assigned to the operation, he said, but he did not rule out the possibility that Vietnamese gun batteries might have been used to support the drive.

In Friday's air operations, planes from the carrier Independence struck before dawn at warehouses and roads near Vinh, 140 miles north of the border. Flares lighted the targets.

Heavy air assaults around Saigon included a strike by four Skyraider fighter-bombers 25 miles northwest of the capital. A spokesman said they were after a Viet Cong detachment estimated to total a battalion—perhaps 300 or more men.

54 Reds Dead
Vietnamese government troops reported they killed 54 Viet Cong Thursday in three clashes, the heaviest 320 miles northwest of Saigon on Quang Ngai province.

Guns of the U.S. 7th fleet fired at a Viet Cong arms factory and various guerrilla assembly and supply areas near the coast on seven support missions. Spotter plane observers said the shells were on target.

A disciplinary problem showed up in the U.S. 1st Cavalry (Air Mobile) Division, based in the central highlands at An Khe.

The spokesman said a military court convicted three artillerymen of refusing to serve in Viet Nam and sentenced them to imprisonment. The cases are under review by the division commander, Maj. Gen. Harry Kinnard.

MARINES NAB OLD WOMAN
Da Nang, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines took an 80-year-old woman into custody Friday and accused her of being a Viet Cong, a Marine spokesman announced.

He said she was found with two drawings of Marine installations concealed in a basket of bananas when she was picked up.

Letter - Writing Boosts Soldiers

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—Hundreds of aroused Americans across the United States are writing to U.S. servicemen in South Viet Nam in a spontaneous expression of support.

Most of the letters are written by women angered by the wave of student protests in the United States against U.S. involvement in Viet Nam. Some of the writers fear the troops may feel a majority of Americans oppose their presence in Viet Nam.

"The letters have revived my faith in the American people," said U.S. Air Force Sgt. Peter Gianutos, 40, of Freeport, N.Y. "We needed them because some of us began asking ourselves what we were doing here."

Response To Column
Gianutos, a 20-year veteran who edits an Air Force newspaper, said he has received more than 250 letters in response to a column he wrote attacking the antiwar demonstrators.

The column, entitled "With Malice Towards Some," was mailed home by thousands of airmen and printed in dozens of newspapers in the United States.

"I have spent the better part of my adult life in the Saigons of the world," wrote Gianutos. "It never occurred to me to disobey an order, or to question the right of my government to send me anywhere to protect and preserve its interests."

Let the demonstrators talk about warmongering to the widow of a Vietnamese army private who earns her rice and fish as a prostitute or with the village woman who lost a hand, one finger at a time, to Viet Cong terrorists.

These Morons
"It has been suggested that they (the demonstrators) all be drafted and brought to Viet Nam. I could not agree less. To put these morons in a uniform is to insult the memory of those who never came back from Guadalcanal, Pork Chop Hill, or those who did not survive... the Viet Cong attack on the (U.S.) embassy in Saigon."

Gianutos' comments prompted Americans from more than 30 states to express their sentiments on the subject.

Among responses was that of Mary G. Armstrong of Milford, Ohio.

"Please be assured that I am doing what is possible to back up our armed forces and am truly grateful to you in Viet Nam for the dedication you show in the face of a dirty war that has to be fought," she said.

Pride
Marcia Whelan of Muskegon, Mich., wrote:

"I am very proud of all of our men in Viet Nam and also proud to be an American. We appreciate all you are doing for the cause of freedom."

Said Janice Hicks of Dayton, Ohio:

"The college students who are against everything you are trying to do are in the minority."

"Most Americans feel as I do and all the men in Viet Nam have our heartfelt respect, pride and prayer."

More Smoke Than Fire In Card-Burning Efforts

By United Press International
A scattering of groups opposed to U.S. involvement in the Viet Nam war Friday pushed a variety of programs to encourage young Americans to refuse to take up arms.

But there appeared to be more smoke than fire in a spate of talk about draft card burning.

In the two weeks since young activists staged a nationwide round of demonstrations to protest U.S. participation in the war, only two young men — one at the University of Iowa, the other in New York City — have performed public card burnings.

Delayed By Uproar
Two others who promised they would do so at a New York rally Thursday postponed the "solemn ceremony." They said the meeting, organized by the Committee for Nonviolent Action, became too uproarious.

A UPI survey showed that authorities from California to New England were checking out rumors or threats of draft card burnings. The FBI was investigating reports that four students burned their cards at Pennsylvania State College.

The survey also showed that only a small percentage of students on a minority of campuses actively participated in the anti-Viet Nam war protest. It indicated that many of these dissidents were not ready to accept the stigma of illegality and threat of federal imprisonment that draft card burning would bring.

SDS Leaflets
Despite evidences of apathy

in the antiwar ranks, staff workers of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) headquarters in Chicago printed leaflets which they hoped to distribute at booths outside induction centers.

"Do you object to fighting?" the leaflets asked. "You may be legally and morally right... We're the guys who have to do the fighting... but are we allowed to ask questions?"

SDS workers collected balloons from a reported 3,000 members to determine whether the membership wants the national office to push a campaign to persuade draft-age youths in both high schools and colleges to file as conscientious objectors.

SDS said it plans to stay strictly within the law and would confine itself largely to explaining how a man can claim objector status.

Not So Easy
An expert in the field said an objector of the SDS type may find this no easy matter. Arlo Tatum of Philadelphia, Quaker-trained head of the Central Committee for Conscientious Objectors (CCCO), said his organization's primary goal is "to serve the conscientious objector."

"This is no way to dodge the draft," he said. "It has no appeal for left-wing draft dodgers."

CCCO is planning a ninth printing of a 110-page "Handbook for Conscientious Objectors." It spells out the facts of life about draft classifications procedure for applying for exemption, appeals, arrests, bail, and life in a federal prison, as an objector.

Army Widow Receives First Viet State Bonus

Springfield Ill. (AP)—A young Army officer's widow, whose husband was killed in action on their 13th wedding anniversary, received from Illinois Friday the first Viet Nam state bonus in the nation.

Mrs. Beverly Louise Dexter of Decatur, who said draft card burners "just don't understand" what service to country means, accepted a $1,000 check from Gov. Otto Kerner.

Kerner told the 33-year-old widow he was sorry to have to meet her "under these circumstances."

Patriotism "is a responsibility that all of us have," the attractive mother of five said with no trace of tears.

Don't Pull Back
Her husband, Maj. Herbert J. Dexter, led a platoon into heavy enemy fire Sept. 18. He was hit in the leg then suffered a fatal wound after he told his men: "Don't pull back, don't pull back."

Asked what her reaction was to youths who burn draft cards, Mrs. Dexter told newsmen:

"They're very foolish and don't understand... My husband died for their freedom. He was willing to pay the price."

Dexter, who enlisted after his graduation from Stephen Decatur High School in 1949, was commissioned an officer three years later at age 20. He served in Korea and Viet Nam prior to returning for a second tour when he was killed.

In Black
Mrs. Dexter dressed in black, brought two of her children, Lynn Gale, 8, and Herbert Jr., 7, to the brief ceremony in the governor's office.

The three other children are Victoria, 11; Dianne, 5; and Douglas, 18 months.

THEY'LL TOP THIS

The shortest mass-produced skirt on the market is meeting with a sensational response. The high-high's designers said, "We put this little skirt on sale at a well-known London shop yesterday morning. It sold out before lunch." It rides 4.5 inches above the knee, it's just 18 inches long and it sells for $8.33. The competition is getting fierce — two weeks from now, another designer will bring out a skirt only 17 inches long.

Steward Kids Pay 35 Cents Under Protest

Chester, Pa. (AP)—Their three-day suspension ended, the Steward kids went back to school Friday and each solemnly handed over a 35-cent check for lunch in the cafeteria.

For their money, 13-year-old Charles Jr. and Peggy, 8, were served—this is Halloween time, mark you—witches' tuna pie, jack-o-lantern salad, ghosts' bread and butter, spook-faced cupcakes, and just plain milk.

"There you are," their mother reacted.

"The pupils aren't allowed to take their own lunches, and what happens? Tuna fish. My kids don't like it. Even those fancy names wouldn't tempt them."

The school accepted the checks with no hint of tongue-in-cheek.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steward Sr. said they wanted the lunches paid for that way in order to have proof of payment, in case of a query.

Along with the checks went this formal note of protest: "Because of the lunchroom situation and the children bringing lunches to school being forbidden, we pay the lunchroom fee under protest."

The school fare affair came into wide focus Tuesday when Robert F. Russell, president of the board in the Chester Township district which embraces two grade schools, suspended the two Steward children for violating rules governing the federally subsidized cafeteria lunch program.

Originally, the children were permitted to take their lunches provided they paid the 35 cents as well. The board changed this.

In Washington, the Agriculture Department said there is no federal regulation preventing a child from taking his own lunch to school, or prohibiting school authorities from requiring pupils to share in the cafeteria lunch program. It is left up to local determination.

Marie McDonald Died Of 'Acute Drug Intoxication'
Los Angeles (UPI)—Actress Marie McDonald died from "acute drug intoxication"—either by suicide or accidentally, the coroner reported Friday.

But Dr. Kenneth Chapman said no attempt would be made to establish a "final recommendation" on whether the 42-year-old blonde star took her own life with an overdose of drugs until the case is studied by a team of consulting psychiatrists and psychologists.

However, Lt. James Hamilton of the sheriff's homicide detail said there was "no indication" of suicide as far as his investigation was concerned.

Minnesota Insurance Commissioner, 16 Executives Accused Of Big Fraud

Minneapolis, Minn. (AP)—A Chicago-based group of insurance and banking executives and the Minnesota state insurance commissioner were named Friday in what a federal grand jury called a $4 million fraud case.

The case was linked to the financial failure of a high-risk auto insurance firm with headquarters in St. Paul.

Phillip Kitzer Sr., 68, of Chicago, Commissioner Cyrus E. Magnusson, 61, and 15 other men were named in one count charging conspiracy and 10 counts of fraud by mail, telegram and financial statements. Magnusson promptly denied any wrongdoing.

Among the others indicted were Jerome M. Sax, 52, John Carroll, 59, and Maurice Jay Mettel, 59, all identified in the indictments as vice presidents of the Exchange National Bank of Chicago.

The Exchange National Bank was not indicted. The three named officers of the bank, the indictment alleges, knowingly participated by loaning money to Kitzer which was used to build an insurance empire.

Federal District Judge Edward J. Devitt ordered the defendants to be summoned for a preliminary hearing in St. Paul at 10 a.m. Nov. 10.

American Allied
The jury's probe, which began during the summer, centered on American Allied Insurance Co. of St. Paul.

On Aug. 4, the firm was declared insolvent, with $1,249,925 in debts and actual assets far under what it claimed.

The liquidation case was initiated in Ramsey County District Court by the state attorney general's office.

American Allied, with more than 100,000 policy holders in 32 states, specialized in insuring high-risk auto drivers with poor driving records.

The grand jury said that the firm and 14 others listed in the indictment were owned, operated and controlled by Kitzer and his sons, Phillip Kitzer Jr., 32, and Joseph F. Kitzer, 28. The Kitzers' combine siphoned off some $4 million in premium money, it was charged.

1961 To Present
It was alleged that the conspiracy and fraud were carried out from Aug. 1, 1961, to the present. In addition to Minnesota and Illinois, defendants were named in New York, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

The grand jury said the defendants, "by false and fraudulent pretenses, representations, and promises" represented American Allied to be financially sound when it was not.

Thousands of policy holders paid American Allied for insurance and reinsurance, with the Kitzers and their companies getting about $4 million in premium money, the indictment charged.

LBJ Belatedly Backs Beame

Johnson City, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson belatedly but strongly endorsed Democrat Abraham D. Beame for mayor of New York Friday—along with Democrats anywhere who are running in Tuesday's elections.

With accompanying flings at Beame's opponents, White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said and then repeated that:

"Mr. Beame knows that the President is strongly and enthusiastically behind him."

Beame is in a tight race against U.S. Rep. John V.

Subandrio Ouster Is Demanded
Jakarta (UPI)—The powerful Moslem political party (PSII) demanded Friday that President Sukarno oust Foreign Minister Subandrio.

At the same time, the official Antara news agency said that recent arson attacks in Balikpapan in east Borneo had killed 21 persons, destroyed 1,500 homes and left some 11,000 persons homeless.

But as reports of communist-led terror increased, the key armed forces newspaper Angkatan said it was "convinced that relations between Indonesia and People's Republic of China will not deteriorate."

The Moslem party declaration asserted that Subandrio, a pro-Peking leftist, no longer enjoyed the confidence of the people and had therefore lost his power.

Coleman Finishes Bribery Testimony

... OMAHA TRIAL

Omaha (UPI)—Chicago investor John B. Coleman finished testifying in Omaha's major bribery trial Friday after attempting to clear up the facts behind a "mysterious woman" who visited his hotel room.

Coleman, who is subject to recall, immediately returned to Chicago.

The defense Thursday had brought up the woman in an apparent attempt to discredit Coleman. The Chicago man admitted the woman had in one instance come to his room. However, he did not elaborate at that time.

Friday, he denied he had brought the woman to the room, instead saying she was brought there by former City Planning Board member C. R. "Barney" Buttner.

Key Figures

Both Coleman and Buttner are key figures in the alleged bribe soliciting trial which involves two former city councilmen and an Omaha real estate man. Also charged with soliciting a bribe is former Mayor James Dworkak. His trial will be held later.

Charged with asking for payoffs in order to get favorable action on a rezoning request are former councilmen Ernest Adams and Stephen Novak and Omaha real estate man Ronald Aboud.

Coleman, 30, did not go into details concerning the woman's visit. However, he said he did not know the woman beforehand and was never alone with her.

It was the third day on the witness stand for Coleman in the five-day-old trial.

Tape Recordings

Much of the other testimony during Friday afternoon's session centered around tape recordings made in Coleman's hotel room allegedly featuring Coleman and the principals in the case.

The tapes—11 rolls in all—were brought into the courtroom a few minutes prior to adjournment Friday by former FBI officer Joseph Thornton, who has helped Coleman in the case. A major court battle is expected Monday when they are sought to be introduced as evidence.

Also testifying in the afternoon session was Ronald W. Hunter of Omaha, one of Coleman's attorneys. It was Hunter who monitored much of the conversation which was taped.

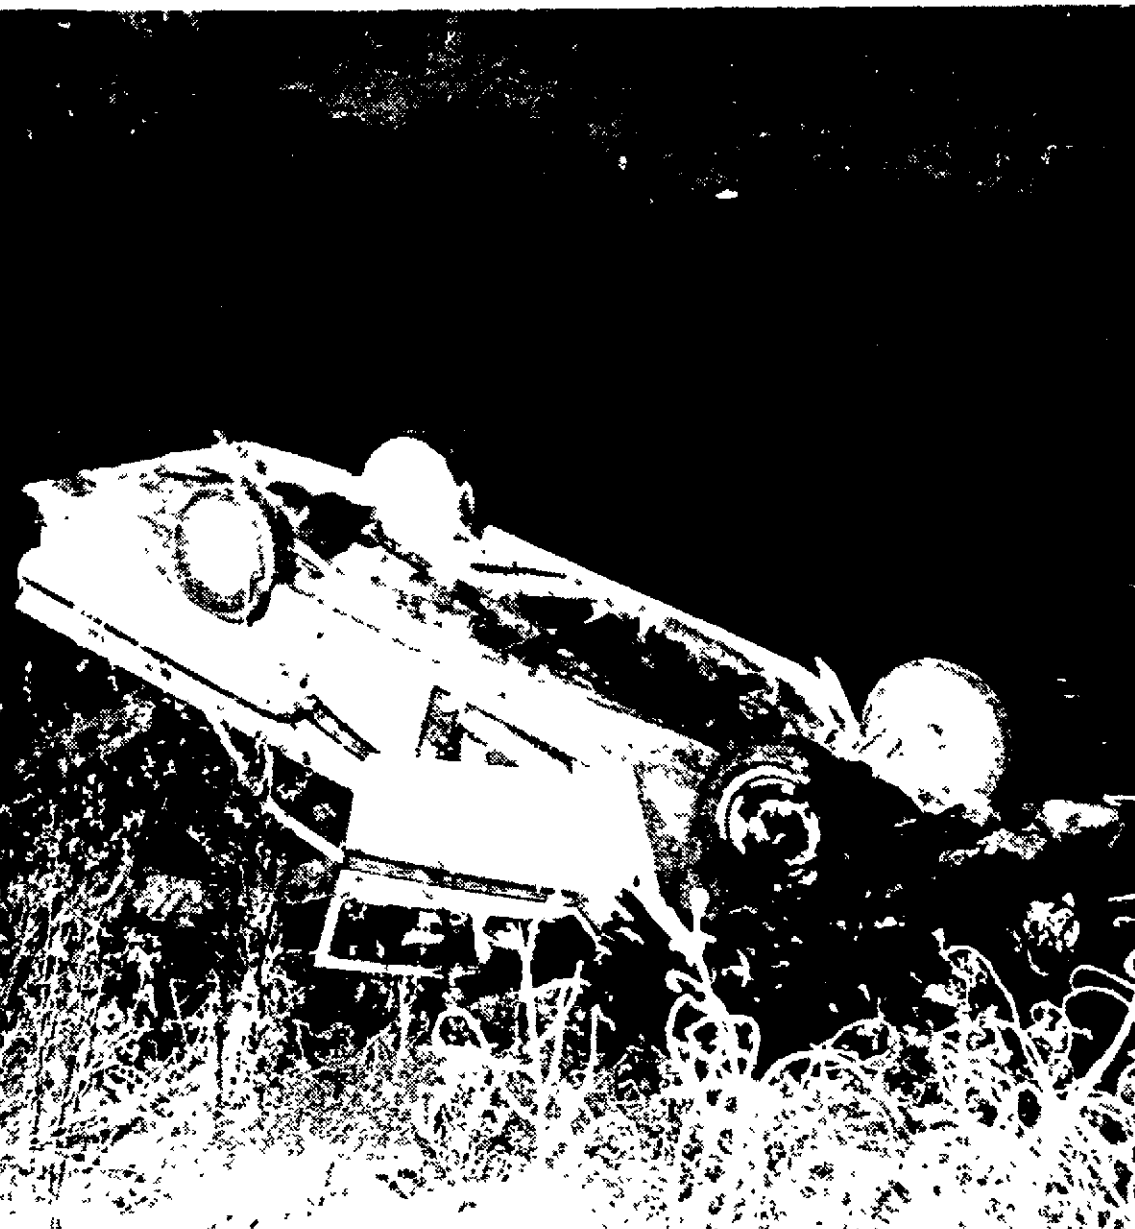

Earlier Friday, Coleman told the court he didn't go to law enforcement agencies with his tale of bribe soliciting because he was told he couldn't trust officers.

He said this warning came from "an unnamed person in the political background."

'Used Profanity' The defense, meanwhile, tried to paint Coleman as a man who used profanity loosely and pled his guests with liquor.

Under cross-examination, Coleman admitted he used "vile" language on occasions, dependent on the "circumstances and environment."

He testified he had liquor in his hotel room at most times, and offered it to visiting officials. He denied he "poured liquor" for his guests, saying each person poured his own.

Creighton U Student Nurse Is Honored

Scottsbluff (P) — A senior at Creighton University School of Nursing, Mary Jean Hills, was named "student nurse of the year" Friday at the state convention of the Nebraska State Student Nurses Association.

The new president is Louise Erickson of Central City, a junior at the University of Nebraska School of Nursing in Omaha.

Other officers named included Jean Leslie Johnson of the Bryan Memorial School of Nursing in Lincoln, first vice president, Kay Rizzo of Lincoln, St. Joseph School of Nursing in Omaha, second vice president, Linda Lemmanowsky of Hastings, Mary Lanning Hospital School of Nursing, recording secretary, Connie Malchow of Omaha Immanuel School of Nursing in Omaha, corresponding secretary, and Gary McIntyre of Nebraska Methodist School of Nursing, treasurer.

There were 390 student nurses registered for the one day session.

Injunction Hearing Set On Power Merger Halt

Columbus (P) — District of Douglas and Sarpy Counties.

Judge C. Thomas White Friday set Nov. 19 for a hearing on a petition for a temporary injunction seeking to hold up the implementation of a power merger envisioned in a law passed by the 1965 legislature.

This was one of a series of developments in the controversy over the law calling for merger of Consumers, Loup and Platte Valley Public Power Districts into a single state wholesale generation and transmission system.

Friday's action by Judge White postponed plans for oral arguments on the petition by the attorney general asking the court to rule on the constitutionality of the power merger law, LB764.

Banks Intervened

American National Bank of Chicago and the Omaha National Bank, who had intervened in the suit brought by Clarence Wittler of Humphrey challenging the legality of the act, appeared Friday to ask the temporary injunction.

It was their contention at the time they intervened in behalf of Wittler that the act would bring about dissolution of the Loup Board which is solely concerned with the well being of Loup bondholders. It was the hearing on this petition which Judge White set for Nov. 19.

In another action Friday Wittler asked leave and was given the right to file an amended petition in his original suit setting forth the issues in more detail. Judge White gave the defendants and intervenors one week in which to file their answers to Wittler's amended petition, and directed that all additional pleadings be on file before Nov. 12, when the case will be at issue.

Actions Followed

These actions followed the action of two residents of Omaha and Bellevue, seeking to intervene in behalf of Wittler on the grounds that the bill discriminates against citizens.

The intervenors, William H. Fitzpatrick of Bellevue and Edward H. Elstun of Omaha, contend in a petition filed Thursday, that under the provision of LB765 which includes districts serving 15 counties or more, the Omaha Public Power District is now liable to inclusion in the statewide merger.

Backers of LB764, had sought to exclude OPPD, but Elstun and Fitzpatrick contend that since OPPD acquired the properties and facilities of the Eastern Nebraska Public Power District, OPPD now operates facilities in more than 5 counties and thereby comes under the definition of LB764.

Representation Denied

The two new intervenors said in a statement that "nearly a half million Nebraskans living in Douglas and Sarpy Counties have been denied representation in the statewide system." It cites properties owned by Platte and Loup in the two counties.

In Omaha Lyman A. Monroe, assistant general manager of OPPD, said the utility does not operate in 15 counties and therefore does not come under the new law.

He said OPPD serves customers in just 13 counties.

Two Men Hurt As Cars Collide

Edward Hackett, 21, of Lincoln Air Force Base, and Richard Eastep, 22, of 3143 No. 56th were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital following a two-car collision Friday evening at 21st and R.

According to police report, Eastep was headed west on R and was making a left turn onto 21st when his car collided with Hackett's vehicle, which was traveling east on R.

Hospital authorities said that Hackett was being held, in fair condition, for observation. Eastep was treated and released.

Lively Questions Follow Vocational Talk

By DICK BUDIG
Star Staff Writer

The question and answer session grew livelier by the minute.

"Can a person filing bankruptcy protect some of his assets by putting them in his wife's name?"

"How liable is the co-signer of a note?"

"If a person filing bankruptcy has a car, can he be forced to sell it?"

"Why doesn't a minor get the credit rating when he pays a note — co-signed by an adult?"

Students at College View Academy, a Seventh-day Adventist school in Southeast Lincoln, tossed these and other questions Thursday at Ken Opp, assistant manager of the Lincoln Credit Bureau.

Opp's talk was sponsored by the Lincoln Rotary Club

Community Services Committee which is supplying men from the business world to give vocational talks to local schools.

Before opening the convocation for questions, Opp traced the history of credit in business, types of credit and the percentage of people who are good credit risks.

"Writing a check is one of the simplest forms of credit," he told the students, pointing out that the person to whom a check is written gives credit that it is good.

Today, seven out of 10 persons pay their bills and of the remaining three, two will be slow about paying, he noted. The remaining one will not meet his obligation.

Credit trouble usually begins in either broken homes or as a result of greed, which causes a person to over-extend himself, Opp declared.

"However, on a national basis, there is only a one-half of one percent loss on all extended credit," he said.

Opp touched on the ills of bankruptcy toward the end of his talk, then threw the discussion open for questions.

"They (the students) asked some penetrating questions," he said after the convocation.

Questioning, from students, as well as teachers, extended several minutes past the time set aside for the convocation.

"This is an invaluable service and we plan to invite more speakers from Rotary to visit us," Louis Torres, guidance counselor at the academy, added.

As for academy students, the consensus was that they aren't going to be filing bankruptcy proceedings — at least not right away.

A large cool area of high pressure, centered over eastern Virginia with a ridge extending southwest into central Texas, will continue moving slowly east and gradually weaken as it moves across an eastern high. A cool Pacific front moving through Minnesota, South Dakota, and from northeast to southwest Nebraska into Colorado, will counter gradual warming process which has been taking place with the first cold air mass leaving.

What's Inside That Counts

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

One well known cigarette commercial tells you that it's what's up front that counts, meaning its filter tip gives the kind of smoking satisfaction you seek. With the individual, it's what's inside that counts, meaning that what he appears to be is not nearly so important as what he really is. And what he really is can be known totally only by himself. If he is what he should be, the thought that others might not know it is a pleasant rather than a distasteful one to him.

This was one of the themes hit upon by Nebraska's poet laureate John G. Neihardt as he spoke in philosophical terms to a student gathering at the University of Nebraska. He spoke of death, for instance, as something beautiful, something with which you become friendlier as you grow older. If one would differ with Mr. Neihardt here, it would be only a small difference. Perhaps age brings more thoughts of death but it need not be an enemy to people of any age. Nor does looking at it in a friendly way put a damper on life or make life any less dear. It is simply that life and death are two separate and distinct things and both can hold great rewards for the individual.

Those who have no belief in God or a hereafter, of course, could hardly be expected to look at death with anything better than indifference. At best, it could only remove them from a situation in life which wasn't too pleasant, anyway.

Too, they might find comfort in the simple fact that life was good while it lasted and that is that. But those with a belief in God and a hereafter know that life is no comparison with the eternity that follows death. There is the promise in that eternity of undreamed of happiness for those who merit it.

Exactly what kind of happiness it will be, no one knows. It will not be the kind that you might think of if everyone had a million dollars, for instance, or a big, new, fancy house in which to live. It is not the kind of happiness that stems from material possessions, but rather, from an experience of love that surpasses that which has ever been known by any human being. In a sense, it is an abstraction because you can't really describe such love but most people can get a good idea of what it means. Most people have known the kind of love that burns deep within two individuals — a husband and wife, a father and son, a mother and daughter or some other very close and very rewarding relationship.

When the nearness or even the thought of someone is a pleasant experience or feeling to you, when the happiness of someone else is the greatest happiness you can know yourself, then you are beginning to experience love. When, with conviction, you know someone for whom you would gladly make any sacrifice that might be demanded of you, then you are beginning to experience love. When someone close to you is hurt, physically or otherwise, and the pain is greater with you, then you are beginning to experience love. When you know someone who you think sees all your good points and none of your bad ones, then you are beginning to experience love. And all of this is but a speck upon the earth compared to the love that can be experienced in eternity. When death is the door to such an experience, how can it be dreaded?

It can be feared, perhaps, because there are no guarantees. One might earn suffering for the hereafter and the greatest of this could be the simple knowledge of what might have been but was lost. But to merit reward rather than suffering is not the difficult thing you might think.

It has to do, again, with what's inside you. Man, said Mr. Neihardt, can find his religion in the clouds, the sky and the green for "I am as much a part of God as a raindrop is of the ocean." This is the beauty and the bounty of the life that has been given us.

You can find God or religion wherever you want to look for them. They are not confined to any place, any time, any institution or any race or creed. Some will find them more easily in one way than another and they may be found with greater fullness in one way or another by different people but they are denied no one except by himself. They are found in your appreciation of life and people, in your personal integrity, in your loyalty, in your respect for your fellow man, in your compassion, in your understanding, in your perseverance, in your self-sacrifice, in your diligence and in every part of every minute of your consciousness.

There is no single prescription, no sole routine and no set of minimum standards for finding them. Religion and God are not found in the outward signs of your piety but in the inner reaches of your heart, in the secrets of your motivation and the convictions of your mind.

Start And Challenge

The new "Open Gym" program inaugurated by the City Recreation Department is a good start and a challenge for the future. Lincoln's municipal recreation program has been somewhat limited in both its variety and in its participation. The new "Open Gym" program for both men and women will lift at both of these shortcomings.

It will add programs for variety and it should encourage participation by a broad group of people. The "Open Gym" plan will feature all kinds of recreation, from individual to team affairs, for adults in the various junior high schools of the city. It is an opportunity for clubs, neighborhoods, church groups, individuals, etc., to take part in a healthful and enjoyable pastime.

It is hoped that the Recreation Department gets many inquiries and the school gyms are filled at the appointed times. The Board of Education, too, is to be commended for permitting this use of its facilities. It is the kind of cooperation that gives to taxpayers the maximum return on their investment.

Waiters Against Tips

Hotel and restaurant employees of 20 countries have been meeting in Geneva, Switzerland.

They are tackling an international issue with firmness. They want the several hundred year old practice of tipping to be ended. They are sick of it, although some have made a fortune at it.

The waiters and employees are meeting under the aegis of the International Labor Organization. They have explained that they are not against the money that tipping brings. Rather they believe the laborer is worthy of his hire and should draw the pay in regular pay checks. There is no dignity in doing one's work and then relying on the charity or habit of the one served for pay.

The United States has two million workmen who depend on tips.

Editorial Of The Day

Fresh Computer Fodder

From The Wall Street Journal
The Agriculture Department is sending letters to all farmers who receive Government payments asking them to send in their Social Security numbers, or if they have none, to apply for them. Thereafter the department, when sending a payment to a farmer, will forward the amount and his Social Security number to the IRS. If, no matter how careful the farmer was in preparing his tax return, there is an inconsistency between what the department says it paid him and what he figures he got. Pow! The IRS will send around to ask how come, just as it does in the case of city folks.

It is good that the government is getting around to placing the farmer, insofar as paying Federal taxes is concerned, on a par with the little guy who works in an office; taxes ought to be collected from one citizen as diligently as from another. But considering all the tax-financed farm billions that already have been paid out, the city cousin may still wonder what's so equitable about it all.

The wage earner who dutifully writes his Social Security number on his income tax return long has had Internal Revenue Service computers breathing down his neck. In this computerized age, that number is the key to many doors.

The wage-earner's savings bank, for instance, has that number. If he per chance lets a little income from interest slip his mind at tax-filing time. Pow! The IRS will send around to ask him how come, and maybe for good measure will run another check on his reported income from dividends, if any.

A lot of farmers, however, have no Social Security number since they have been self-employed all their lives. Accordingly their sources of income are somewhat less accessible to the tax collectors' computers.

New York GOP Flying Apart

NEW YORK—With Rep. John Lindsay, the Republican-liberal candidate, coming up, and Abraham D. Beame, the Democrat, once considered a sure winner, edging down, the New York race for mayor is going to be close. But no matter who wins, the election will have these important national repercussions:

The Republican party in New York, once dominated by such liberals as Tom Dewey and Nelson Rockefeller, in the future will be split as wide open as the Republican party in California.

The same kind of guerrilla warfare between Republicans which has caused such bitterness in California will now churn the Republican party in New York.

Sen. Jack Javits' dramatic hope of taking over the state and becoming the next governor of New York has gone glimmering. All this will result from the fact that a conservative candidate — William F. Buckley — has thrown himself into the race and built up the conservative party to unprecedented strength.

Buckley is the editor of the National Review, an ardent champion of the late Joe McCarthy, a close friend of Roy Cohn, and one of the tough routin'-tootin' Goldwaterites of the last election.

Today his snide vindictiveness and viciousness have been replaced by a veneer of humor of the type made popular by the late John F. Kennedy. Buckley has not only kept his temper but has learned to poke fun at himself.

Courts Tougher On Reapportionment

WASHINGTON — AFL-CIO President George Meany and the march of time are on the side of the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote decision. Its congressional supporters will not really relax while the wily Senate Republican leader, Everett Dirksen, continues to press his constitutional amendment, which would permit the states to dilute the effects of the court's ruling. Its object is to help rural minorities maintain some of their old control in the state legislatures.

Dirksen failed to win a majority for his proposal last August but kept it on the calendar by threatening to block the administration's immigration bill. The trade was made and this is where Meany now comes in.

The immigration bill passed but President Johnson failed to deliver on his promise to repeal Labor's pet hate. This is 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act allowing the states to enact right to work laws.

Meany has given his personal promise not to trade 14B repeal in exchange for withdrawing Labor's opposition to the Dirksen amendment. With the civil rights forces standing pat also, life looks easier next session to the Senate liberals leading the fight to block it.

The courts have been increasingly militant also in demanding compliance with

Asked what he would do if he won, he replied: "I'd demand a recount."

Buckley has walked into a pedestrian, lackluster political campaign and given it verve. With nobody very enthusiastic about either Lindsay, the Republican, or Beame, the Democrat, Buckley has picked up the support of those who are against school busing and for school segregation, together with the old Christian Front crowd, the Coughlinites, the Birchites, the Goldwaterites and the right-wing Catholic vote.

He has made his heaviest inroads among ethnic groups — Italians, Irish, Germans and Poles. A lot of them voted for Goldwater in 1964, even though registered Democrats. And many of them hate Rockefeller today, even though registered Republicans.

Buckley isn't even a New Yorker. He lives in Stamford, Conn. However, Bobby Kennedy showed that you can run for high office in New York without being a resident, and Buckley is cashing in on that precedent.

According to present estimates, he will roll up over 350,000 conservative votes, which will be more than the Liberty Party headed by Dave Dubinsky and Alex Rose, and will detract from the Liberals' pivotal position of being able to tip the political scales in New York. The Liberal Party in this election has deserted the Democrats to support Republican John Lindsay.

ON TARGET

By DON WALTON

We're in Columbia today — along with the rest of the fanatics — to watch the big one.

No one needs to tell any Nebraska how important this one is. Suffice it to say that the Huskers have kay-oed Mizzou twice under Devaney — and both times, NU went on to the Big Eight title.

Nebraska has entered the Missouri game unbeaten in three of Devaney's four years. This year, more than ever is at stake.

So, G-B-R.

An Omaha newspaper says John Lindsay, the Republican-liberal candidate for mayor of New York, is an "ultra-liberal."

The conservative candidate, William Buckley, is, according to the same source, brilliant, attractive, responsible, intelligent, articulate — and possessed of warmth.

How's that for a detached appraisal?

No doubt there are Americans in political life who might properly and accurately be described as ultra-liberal.

However, some are inclined to brand as an ultra-liberal anyone with a current calendar.

The need for review of Nebraska's system for involuntary commitment of mental cases has been raised anew in a paper prepared by Lincoln attorney Edward Carter Jr.

Carter outlined the problem rather succinctly in a single statement:

"The important fact is that a system is tolerated in modern society where people can be incarcerated for indeterminate periods of time — including life — upon legally inadmissible evidence where the subject's only hope may be to rely upon court-appointed counsel to stick with an appeal for little or no compensation."

Under the involuntary commitment procedure, a person may be taken into custody and held for hearing before a county board of mental health solely upon the written statement, under oath, of a single person claiming that the subject is mentally ill and needs to be committed.

It could happen to you — or me.

In 1963, according to Carter, the Lancaster County Board of Mental Health held 223 hearings. In 1964, it held 223.

Commitment was ordered in approximately 90% of the cases, or about 200 each year.

Out of those committed, an average of fewer than one person per year appeals to the District Court, and, according to Carter, no cases have been tried since about 1957.

"The others have not gone to trial because the appellant has been released before a date for trial could be had," Carter pointed out.

The board is composed of three members: the clerk of the District Court, and a doctor and a lawyer appointed by the district judge.

Appearance of counsel is the exception, not the rule; the board may choose not to issue subpoenas nor to administer oaths nor to have a court reporter in attendance. It may also bar the accused from hearing the testimony of the accuser.

Examination by a doctor, required by statute, may simply take the form of questioning by the doctor member of the board, according to Carter.

"We have all known senile old people who at times recognized us and, at other times, didn't," Carter noted, "or who would slip back 50 years to other times and other places."

"Are they proper subjects for commitment?"

"Under our law, I see no protection for them."

A recent Wyoming Supreme Court decision raises some interesting questions about involuntary commitment statutes like those in Nebraska.

If the case has application in Nebraska, "none of the present commitments are valid," Carter suggested.

Said the court:

"It still remains the fundamental law of the land that a person cannot be deprived of his liberty — whether by involuntary hospitalization or some other kind of incarceration — without due process of law."

Star readers may remember that this subject was probed rather intensively by the talented pen of Nancy Ray. The issue came before the 1965 Legislature in the form of a bill, which died in committee.

A Legislative Council committee has been assigned the task of preparing recommendations for the next Legislature. They are long overdue.

Nebraska Republicans have issued their 1965 yearbook — and it's a money-maker, as usual.

The GOP charges advertisers $1,000 each for the back page, the inside front page and the inside back page.

Other full pages go for $500 each; half-page ads cost $275, and quarter-page $150.

This year's book counts 214 advertisers, including 40 from Lincoln.

Based on the rates quoted to potential advertisers in letters mailed to them, the 1965 yearbook will gross about $50,000.

BOB CONSIDINE

Orville Wright Invested In Railroads

LOS ANGELES — This is the "Detroit" of the aerospace industry. Billions of dollars have funneled into it, and the general area has produced aircraft that blanket the airspace of the world, missiles that keep the peace, satellites that find startling answers to planetary and solar questions that baffled man since his creation.

And all of this has come to pass in the memory of millions still alive and kicking.

James A. Farley touched on that particular phenomenon in a speech this year before the International Benjamin Franklin Society in New York. Big Jim said:

"No man in Benjamin Franklin's time — and no man now — can foresee the vast new sources of energy and insights which will come to us. Sometimes, it is closer than we think."

"At a state celebration a few years ago, the oldest person present, a lady nearing 100 years of age, was brought to the microphone to speak of her early days. She said that she and her husband had taught in a log cabin school, built by a religious order. Her husband was an instructor in science."

"Every three years the bishop inspected the school, she related, and on their first encounter with him he asked the young husband what he thought about the subject he was attempting to teach. The husband said science was the greatest tool ever given to man by God and that through it man would build a wonderful new society."

"The bishop cautioned the young teacher. He said that man already had the steam engine and the telegraph and, indeed, there were even a few telephones. The bishop suggested that God had given enough, perhaps as much as was in store for man, and it behooved the young scientist to teach gratitude for gifts already received."

"Whereupon, the old lady continued, her young husband answered bravely that in his opinion those times were merely a prelude to great new inventions that lay beyond. In fact, he said to the bishop, he foresaw the day when man would fly."

"The bishop sternly warned him that if he continued in this view, the mission church might have to re-examine his teacher's contract. 'You are approaching blasphemy,' the old lady remembered the bishop's saying.

"Then she added, 'There would be nothing exceptional about this story except that the bishop's name was Wright, and his own two sons invented the airplane my husband predicted.'"

Created a job or two around these parts. Around Seattle, too, and Baltimore, Denver, Wichita, St. Louis, Fort Worth, Long Island, Buffalo, Marietta, Ga., Cape Kennedy, Houston and a few thousand other places.

The Wrights would have marveled at all of the commercial and executive models being turned out today by the aircraft industry. But they would have deplored that side of the business which made it the giant it is today — the military.

"I once thought the airplane would end wars," Orville Wright sadly wrote to a friend three weeks after Hiroshima. "I now wonder whether the airplane and the atomic bomb can do it. It seems that ambitious rulers will sacrifice the lives and property of all their people to gain a little personal fame."

Orville Wright, who outlived his brother Wilbur by 36 years, saw their invention become a machine of war in World War I and a colossal source of destruction in World War II. In 1943 he resignedly wrote, "It was air power that made such a terrible war possible, but it also is air power that we will have to depend upon to stop it."

He died in 1948 at 77, and his will revealed that most of his fortune had been invested in the Atchison, Topeka and the Santa Fe.

Your Five Cents Worth Competition

Lincoln, Neb.
Hooray for the Nebraska Petroleum Marketer's Association in their decision to discontinue using Lincoln as their convention city as long as the City of Lincoln competes with private enterprise in the operation of the gas station!

The local merchants do not deserve to profit from 700 convention goers so long as the merchants, through apathy, allow their city government to compete with private business in something other than a public utility.

I wonder how long this apathy would exist if the city built a modern hotel, restaurant, department store and, yes, a daily newspaper combination "to protect the citizens against high prices."

Suppression Of Criticism Rapped By Vanocur

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer
Silencing criticism of American foreign policy "is an insult to America's democracy," Washington reporter Sander Vanocur declared Friday.

Silencing dissent is "saying that we are not strong enough to have doubts or questions raised," the prominent former NBC political and White House correspondent said.

"We are a strong, important, indestructible society and can afford dissent," according to Vanocur, and if it "has to become a choice between consensus and dissent, for the time being we should plug for dissent because consensus will always be around."

Sander Vanocur, who is now working on books about the late President John F. Kennedy, addressed the general session of Nebraska State Education Assn. District I convention here Friday.

Vanocur speculated about whether President Johnson had carried "consensus politics" too far when administration forces did not allow debate in Congress on private school participation in federal aid to education, which he predicted would be "regretted."

The President is "running an even greater risk when consensus politics is pursued in foreign affairs. It can be downright dangerous," Vanocur declared.

"Someday we are going to have to negotiate over Vietnam," the journalist said, and "it is going to be difficult for the American people to swallow some of the concessions." He contended that Johnson left himself "no escape hatches" by not even permitting debate on the U.S. position in Congress, from which he could choose the best proposals.

"Presidential criticism on Vietnam has been effectively silenced," he declared.

McGeorge Bundy is said to have told some senators that "every time the Vietnamese policy is questioned, it heats up the Communist propaganda pot in Hanoi," according to Vanocur.

"But what is more important," the Washington reporter asked, "the right of dissent or the possibility that the Chinese Communists may not understand or may be misled about what is going on in the U.S." from questioning or demonstrations.

The Vietnamese are "very likely to act in terms of their own national interest no matter what happens here," he announced.

Commenting on a recent interview with Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark) who had been assailed by administration officials for the senator's attack on American intervention in the Dominican Republic, Vanocur deplored that a respected U.S. senator "can't raise questions without having his own personal honor and integrity attacked."

Vanocur predicted that the President will "bow" to the Congressional desire to reorganize the executive branch of the government in 1966. "If he doesn't he will find himself in trouble," the journalist added.

It was also predicted that the President would not get in Congress' next session, the repeal of the Taft-Hartley 14B section of the appropriation for rent subsidies.

Vanocur described the 1965 Congress as the "most productive in this century," which substantially "wrapped up the agenda of American democracy which Roosevelt laid before the people in 1933."

Duty To Aid Parents Questioned

By ROBERT PETERSON
Q. "Some snoop has written me an anonymous note saying I should be sending my folks money each month. They have a pension and Social Security totaling $160 monthly and seem to get along. My income may be 10 times greater, but I've got an extravagant wife and four kids. Do I have an obligation to support my parents, too?"

A. A responsible son shouldn't even be asking such questions. You have an obligation to take a kindly interest in your parents' needs, and to supplement their income if they don't have enough to live comfortably. If you don't you'll hate yourself when they're gone.

Q. "A rich old lady came to our senior citizen club and suddenly began screaming that someone had stolen her mink jacket. She nearly had a fit and poked her finger angrily at everyone demanding, 'Did you take it?' She was so upset two of us took her home in a taxi and when she opened the door there was the jacket on a chair. She hadn't even worn it that day, and didn't so much as apologize. I was so mad I almost slapped her. Do you blame me?"

A. No, but take it in your stride. There are a lot of disagreeable, churlish elders around. Fortunately, they're a minority. The sharp tempers of some are smoothed and softened by time, resulting in mature personalities marked by kindness and tolerance. But not everyone improves with age!

Q. There's a thrift shop in town operated by the local hospital. I try to keep up appearances and never venture near it. But one day I noticed a good-looking woman in the window just my size, so I slipped in and bought it. Just as I was leaving I ran into a snooty neighbor who was coming in. We both could have died when we saw each other."

A. That's what happens when people harbor pretensions. A little common sense will reveal there's nothing wrong with visiting a thrift shop. Used furniture in the form of antiques is perfectly acceptable at any social level. Why shouldn't good used clothing which has been cleaned be equally acceptable, especially when it's being sold for the benefit of worthwhile community organizations?

Q. "I've got a rare china tea set that has been in my family for 150 years. I've been offered $500 for it by an antique dealer. We're in our 70's and could use the money. Our only son says he'd sell it in a minute."

But it seems wrong to part with something that has been in the family so long. What do you think?"

A. I can understand your sentiments. But since there seems to be no one waiting with bated breath to inherit this china from you and pass it on to future generations, I think you should sell it and use the money for something meaningful and essential to your retirement satisfaction.

Court Reverses Its Ruling In Coffee Companies Case

The State Supreme Court in a 5-2 decision Friday reversed itself and upheld a Douglas County District Court jury verdict in an alleged conspiracy case involving three Omaha coffee companies.

The high court had previously ordered that a new trial be held.

The jury awarded Frank H. Gibson, Inc., an Omaha coffee wholesaler, $20,000 for damages after the president of the company, Edgar J. Bellows, charged that the E. C. Conroy Coffee Co., Inc., the Omaha Coffee Co., and Kenneth Loseke, vice president of the Gibson firm, conspired to purchase the Gibson business "on their own terms."

Conroy was sole owner of both defendant companies.

"The jury could reasonably find, as it must have done, that Bellows was forced to sell the company because of the conspiracy between Loseke and Conroy," the majority opinion said. "We do not have a refusal to do business but rather an attempt to steal a business by taking unfair advantage of a business relationship."

"In our former opinion we stated: 'defendant Conroy Coffee Company had ample reason and in the interest of good business, to take the action that it took in order to protect its business which would be lost to a competitor.' This statement is erroneous."

"It had a right to protect its business but not in the way it endeavored to do so."

The district court awarded a new trial after the jury verdict and the Supreme Court originally upheld that ruling. However the high court Friday said the jury verdict should stand.

Chief Justice Paul White and Judge Leslie Boslaugh dissented because they contended the evidence was not sufficient to prove "that previous to any offer of sale Loseke and Conroy conspired and agreed to take over the Gibson business if Conroy could not force a sale on its own terms."

In other rulings Friday the court:

—Found against the University of Nebraska Chapter of the Sigma Delta Phi Fraternity in a zoning dispute with the city of Lincoln.

The city denied the fraternity's request for a permit to construct a four-story house at 1505 "R" St. on the grounds the house plans did not conform with the provisions of the zoning ordinance.

The fraternity had claimed the zoning ordinance was unconstitutional, but the Supreme Court noted persons who invoke the provisions of a statute may not challenge its validity.

—Affirmed the judgment of Lancaster County District Court that Ray Wolfe, who owns property adjacent to the Interstate Highway, was entitled to no payment for damages by the State Road Department when the department secured a permanent easement to control outdoor advertising. The court said there was no evidence that the value of Wolfe's property dropped.

—Upheld a Sarpy County District Court dismissal of a petition in which Henry B. McPherson and others sought to recover $22,000 in U.S. Government bonds which they claimed Florence F. Munter and others by fraud and undue influence persuaded Ralph V. McPherson to redeem for the use of the defendant. The high court ordered that a trial be held.

—Overturned the Sarpy County District Court in a divorce action involving Charles C. and Warran Dennis. Dennis was granted by default a decree of divorce on July 17 of last year, but Mrs. Dennis within six months filed a petition to vacate the order.

She contended she was coerced into agreeing to the child custody and property settlement provisions of the decree. The court in August, 1964, set aside the original divorce decree, and Dennis appealed.

—Affirmed a Hall County District Court jury finding that there was no cause for court action as a result of a two-car collision south of Grand Island four years ago.

Heila M. Morrissey, the driver of one of the cars, contended the driver of the other car, Arvilla M. Johnson, was guilty of negligence. The Johnson woman asserted contributory negligence on the part of the Morrissey woman.

Speaking Tour Set

Osceola (P)—Cecil E. Higginbotham, who describes himself as the "lone wolf" candidate for president in 1968, said he will begin a three-year speaking tour in January. He said he intends to tour the nation in behalf of his candidacy.

Meet Star Carrier Nick Elsener

Nick Elsener, who delivers the Lincoln Star to his customers in the area from C to J Sts. and from 31st to 33rd St., is the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick J. Elsener of 744 South 32nd St. Nick and his parents attend St. Teresa's Church.

Nick is in the ninth grade at St. Teresa's School. He plays guard for the Pius X ninth grade football team. He is also interested in playing guard for basketball and participating in track. Delivering a morning paper still leaves him plenty of time for sports and other school activities.

Much of Nick's $20 profit goes into the bank to be used for a college education and the rest of it he uses to buy clothes and school supplies. After high school, Nick plans to further his education by going on to college.

In the 11 months he has had his route, Nick has in two separate months gotten more new customers than any other Star carrier in his district. Consistent delivery and a friendly attitude along with 11 months of nearly perfect service have been marks of the businesslike manner in which

Nick manages his route. Nick feels that his route has taught him the value of money as well as the importance of saving it, and given him the ability to meet people.

YOUR HARVEST?

Stop, right where you are! What kind of seeds are you sowing?
 Do you go to church? Do you sow wheat, aloes, anise or prickly pear seeds?
 Do you bless your neighbor or curse him? The adage is true, YOU'RE GOING TO REAP JUST WHAT YOU SOW. Clean words, kind thoughts and good deeds bring a glorious harvest. If you sow of the flesh, do not expect to reap of the spirit, YOU'RE GOING TO REAP JUST WHAT YOU SOW.

Prenuptial Courtesies

A series of prenuptial courtesies has been held recently honoring Miss Sandra Jean Blades, whose betrothal to Lyle W. Kruse was announced recently.

The soon-to-be bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Blades, was presented a miscellaneous shower on Friday evening, Oct. 22, when Miss Susan Wolf and Miss Jane Handa were co-hostesses at a party held at the home of Miss Handa.

Honoring the soon-to-be bride on Wednesday, Oct. 20, were Mrs. Robert Kierstead and Mrs. Val Kuska who entertained a group of guests at the home of Mrs. Kierstead. During the evening, a linen shower was presented to the honoree.

Also included among recent courtesies for Miss Blades was the kitchen shower given by Miss Diane Ilkenhous and Mrs. Edward Harman. The informal party was held at the Goodyear Cabin on Sunday evening, Oct. 17.

The wedding of Miss Blades and Mr. Kruse will take place on Saturday evening, Nov. 20, at Bethany Christian Church.

In prenuptial courtesies to their daughter and her fiance, Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Blades will be host and hostess at a rehearsal dinner on Friday evening, Nov. 19. Members of the family and bridal party have been invited to the dinner, which will be held at King's Banquet.

'T WAS

a night of old-fashioned fun

Time was when Halloween was a great night — not just a costumed parade collecting candy hand-outs.

But there was plenty of old-fashioned fun at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Furrer near Walton Friday evening, when the Furrer children, Joy, Danny and Andy, entertained 35 friends at their annual Halloween party.

There was a hayrack ride across the fields followed by an outdoor wiener roast, and the evening ended with a spooky tour of the haymow where all manner of unearthly beings lay in wait for the unsuspecting.

The Air Force Association held its October meeting last weekend at the Officers' Club. The evening's festivities got under way at 6:30 o'clock followed by dinner and an evening of dancing.

The program featured Col. William Bowers, Professor of Aerospace Studies at the University of Nebraska. His interesting talk was based on his experiences as Air Attache while stationed in Czechoslovakia.

The officers, and their wives, at the Lincoln Air Force Base had a Halloween party last night at the Officers' Club.

The dinner-dance was highlighted by a floor show with the entrancing title of "Medic's Follies."

The officers of the award winning 343rd Bombardment Squadron and their wives are getting together this evening for a canape party at the Officers' Club starting at 8 o'clock.

And more news of the 343rd Bombardment Squadron includes the monthly coffee to be held next Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Hostesses for the Nov. 4th affair are Mrs. Golda Eldridge, Mrs. Richard Dawson, Mrs. Robert Demkovich and Mrs. Marvin J. Poliquin.

Capt. and Mrs. John Kakaček have been party host and hostessing recently.

On one occasion, their dinner guests were Maj. and Mrs. Lynn Johnson, Capt. and Mrs. Scotty Billington and Capt. and Mrs. Varney Alverez.

Another evening, they entertained Mrs. Janet Brooks, Lt. Col. Robert Wolf and Capt. and Mrs. Richard Orr.

Miss Peggy Palmer, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Raymond H. Palmer, was the surprised honoree at a party given in her honor. The farewell slumber party was hostessed by Miss Ann Stevens, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. E. N. Stevens, and Miss Nancy Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Holmes, at whose home the party was held.

Other friends from Lincoln High wishing Miss Palmer a fond farewell were Miss Nancy Snyder and Miss Barbara Smith.

Miss Palmer will be leaving with her parents this month for Maj. Palmer's new assignment at Travis Air Force Base, Calif.

Maj. and Mrs. Robert Conner entertained a group of their friends at a farewell dinner party, as they will leave this weekend for Maj. Conner's new assignment at Travis Air Force Base, Calif.

Saying their goodbys to Maj. and Mrs. Conner were Lt. Col. and Mrs. Wallace Collins, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Russell Heller, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Dave Clark, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Robert Henwood, Maj. and Mrs. Raymond Palmer, Maj. and Mrs. Joseph Hallis, Maj. and Mrs. Robert Jacobsen, Maj. and Mrs. Milton Melland, Maj. and Mrs. M. L. Davidson, Capt. and Mrs. Howard Nolan, Capt. and Mrs. Phil Adams, Capt. and Mrs. John Gabrick, Capt. and Mrs. Dale Brummand, Capt. and Mrs. Raymond J. Witt, Capt. and Mrs. Harold Merryman, and Mrs. Varney Alverez.

The wives of the 343rd Bombardment Squadron were together Thursday afternoon for their monthly bridge. Hostesses for the afternoon affair were Mrs. Charles Bopp and Mrs. Robert Walton.

Concluding the afternoon with the high score was Mrs. Joseph Hallis.

Pheasant hunting for the men and a long visit for the ladies is on the agenda for Mr. and Mrs. LaVell K. Swarts and their son Kem as they travel to Stanton this weekend. The Swarts' will be house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kautzman.

MEADOW LANE

Capt. and Mrs. Stanley Toney and their sons, Scott and Randy, moved from the Meadow Lane area yesterday. The Toney's new address will be Lincoln AFB.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Gregg Waldo returned Thursday from a five day visit in Denver, Colo. While in Denver the Waldos were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rap-pole. The two couples first became friends while on tours of duty in Berlin, Germany.

Try this one for an unusual combination — Daryln Trook, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Derrill Trook, entertained at a Halloween slumber party Thursday night. She served pizza as refreshment and the guests played Monopoly and their favorite records. Then Friday she treated her six friends to a day at the roller skating rink. Sounds wild.

A sedate celebration for your 25th wedding anniversary? No sir! Mrs. Creighton Cyr was very shocked as four of her friends invaded her home Wednesday morning to hold a surprise coffee in honor of the silver anniversary. Surprisers were Mrs. Horace Kirk, Mrs. Lloyd D. Davis, Mrs. Richard Bush and Mrs. Derrill Trook.

EASTBOROUGH

Mary, Patricia and Kenneth, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ore, all celebrated their birthdays together Friday night. The hostesses and host, who were 17, 15 and 14 respectively, gathered 15 of the friends to help them celebrate. There was a competitive scavenger hunt followed by a chili dinner.

We might mention the dates of the anniversaries — Mary's is Oct. 25th, Patricia's is Oct. 28th and Kenneth's will be Nov. 1.

EASTRIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Kubert are host and hostess this weekend to a former Lincoln family who now are living in Colorado Springs, Colo. The guests are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Buresh and their children Diane and Larry. This is the Bureshs first trip back to Lincoln since leaving in June.

Marcia McCracken, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale McCracken, celebrated her sixth birthday on Friday with a ghost, goblins and witches party. Marcia was hostess to 12 of her be-costumed friends as they drank witches brew and bobbed for apples. Also at the party were Marcia's

SHOWER

Gifts for her kitchen plus plenty of cooking advice and recipes were presented to Miss Ona Blakesley Thursday evening when she was the guest of honor at a bridal shower at the home of Mrs. Forest Brown.

Hostess for the prenuptial courtesy was Mrs. Brown's daughter, Mrs. Thomas Pyron, and the 16 guests included friends of the honoree and their mothers.

Admiring the rolling pin is Miss Blakesley, who has chosen Dec. 5, as the date for her marriage to Steven James Lehr, and seated at right is Mrs. Pyron. Standing (from the left) are Mrs. Gary Jurgens; Mr. Lehr's mother, Mrs. Don Lehr; and Mrs. P. E. Philburn of Unadilla.

Opening lead — king of diamonds.

When declarer is playing a suit contract, he generally starts by counting his losers (instead of his winners) so that he will have some idea of how things shape up.

However, this approach to the play is not always best, since there are some hands — especially the distributional ones — where the best method is to count winners instead of losers. Probably the safest approach is to study the hand from both viewpoints, and, when there is a discrepancy because the winners and losers do not add up to 13, place the greater faith in the winner count.

For example, take this case. Suppose you're declarer at four hearts doubled and West leads a diamond, which you ruff. If you assume that East has all the missing trumps, your losers consist of three hearts, perhaps one or two clubs, and possibly one or two spades.

This makes the situation look black indeed, but — if you examine the hand from the standpoint of winners — the outlook is not nearly so gloomy. There is no way of knowing how you will eventually fare, but the proper method of play is clear from the start. You must try to score as many low trumps as possible.

Accordingly, at trick two, you lead a club and finesse the queen, which wins. After ruffing a diamond you play a club to the ace and trump another diamond. Then you play a spade to the ace and ruff dummy's last diamond.

By this time you have won seven tricks. You cash the A-K of hearts and king of spades, and you are home with ten tricks.

Your last three cards are the 10-8 of spades and seven of clubs, all of which West can win but which East actually takes with the Q-J-10 of trumps. In effect you combine your three black suit losers with three trump losers, so that you lose only three tricks.

ALSO ANNOYED
DEAR ALSO: Yes. And it's pronounced "pal-o-mino. Although it's obviously no pal-o-yours, either.

DEAR ABBY: The people who wrote in complaining about snoring mates don't know how lucky they are. All my life I've dreamed about having a man sleeping next to me. So what if he snores. Just as long as he's there — and breathing.

DEAR READERS: On September 12, I solicited your cooperation for a survey on what I termed The Number One Public Enemy of Nocturnal Togetherness, SNORING! I requested the following information: Does your mate snore. How long has it been going on. What are you doing about it.

To date I have received upwards of 212,000 responses and the mail continues to bring more! From all the 50 States, Canada, Denmark, Rome, Japan, South Africa and Tehran, I could write a book on snoring (and perhaps I shall) but be patient, and when my weary staff has sifted and sorted all the findings, I shall share them with you in my column. Gratefully yours, ABBY your friend is 'plain jealous'

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband has always bought me gifts of clothing. Clarence knows my dress size, shoe size, and my most becoming hats have been gifts from him. I think he has excellent taste, and whenever anyone compliments me on my clothes, I proudly say, "Clarence bought it for me."

Recently a good friend of mine said that men who bought their wives wearing apparel were really ashamed of them and tried to make them look better. She said that men married to beautiful women weren't aware that they needed anything.

I thought it over, and had to admit that the wives whose husbands bought them wearing apparel weren't exactly beauties. What do you think, Abby? Maybe some other women would like to comment.

PLAIN JANE
DEAR JANE: Men who buy their wives gifts of wearing apparel do so because they know that nothing delights a woman more. You may be Plain Jane, but your "friend" is Plain Jealous.

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 years old and am happily married to a wonderful man. We both want children very much but we cannot have them. (My fault.) Since we cannot have children of our own, we would like to adopt one or two. Our problem is when I was 16 I had a baby out of wedlock at a home for unwed mothers. (I gave it up for adoption.) It was at this home that I learned how strict the adoption agencies were about choosing parents for their babies. Only those with the best character could get a child. If my husband and I qualified in every other way, would we be disqualified because of what happened in my past?

WANTS A FAMILY
DEAR WANTS: This would depend on the agency. Some agencies do not regard an incident that took place when a girl was 16 as a character blemish if she managed to make a constructive life for herself thereafter.

DEAR ABBY: About the lady who signed herself "ANNOYED" because her husband stopped at the same restaurant so many times during the day for coffee. I had the same problem with my husband. Only I found out it wasn't the coffee-maker who drew him. It was the book-

THE RYATTS

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:

Mark Twain published a successful book that contained, according to a biographer, "not a single word that critics could praise or condemn."

Some diving ducks go down so deeply into the water that they are accidental fishermen at a depth of over 100 feet.

As many as 2,000 diving ducks have been found in nets in a single day in Lake Michigan, and one fisherman caught 2,000 diving ducks in a spring.

Finer Air Support Could Prove To Be Difference As Huskers Face Missouri

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor
Columbia, Mo.—Nebraska, boasting a powerful infantry-type attack with sufficient air support to keep the enemy off balance, takes on Missouri, a team that relies mostly on its infantry, at 1:30 this afternoon with the Big Eight lead at stake.
An overflow crowd of 57,000 is expected to watch the two teams square off in a battle that is bound to produce enough bumps and bruises to last a season.
The game, which is billed as the deciding game for the Big Eight championship, matches two contrasts in football philosophies.
Nebraska is a team that takes chances both on offense and defense, preferring to score from the 50-yard line rather than the three.

The Huskers have found more ways of penetrating a defense than Gen. Eisenhower ever dreamed of. If they can't beat you by running at you, they'll run around you. And if that doesn't work they can go over your head.
Missouri, meanwhile, prefers to keep punching you in the belly until you weaken.
Defensively, the two teams also contrast. Nebraska will take a chance or two on defense while the Tigers prefer to roll up their sleeves, stand on the corner and slug away.
Both teams have powerful infantry forces, but the contest could be decided on the basis of air support, something Nebraska has displayed and Missouri hasn't.

The Huskers lead the nation in total offense, rushing offense and scoring. Their chief competitor in rushing offense is Missouri.
NU has averaged 269 yards per game on the ground with the Tigers moving at a 250.3 clip. But the big difference comes in total offense.
The Huskers have added 146.7 yards per contest with their air game while Missouri's air support has aided it in infantry attack only with 57 yards per game.
The Huskers have struck quickly against each of their foes in racking up a 6-0 record while the Tigers have done most of their scoring by punching their way downfield a few yards at a time.
Missouri has looked its best against the toughest opposition this season and in facing Nebraska, they meet a team rated No. 2 by United Press International and No. 3 by Associated Press.

The Tigers lost to Kentucky, 7-0, and tied UCLA, 14-14, while compiling a 4-1-1 record. Kentucky has lost only to Auburn and LSU and picked up a big win over Georgia last week.
UCLA lost only to top-ranked Michigan State, 13-3, and includes a 56-3 thumping of California among its wins.
Missouri's wins of 28-6 over Kansas State and 23-7 over Iowa State have not been as impressive as NU's 41-0 and 44-0 wins over the same foes, but you can account for this by way of the two varying attacks with Missouri getting its TDs on a grind 'em out basis and the Huskers getting theirs on long plays.
The contest pits the league's two top coaches with Nebraska's Bob Devaney owning a 34-5 mark since coming to Lincoln and Missouri's Dan Devine compiling a 54-19-6 mark here.
It also pits the league's two top quarterbacks in NU's Fred Duda, who has run for 186 yards and passed for 507 against Missouri's Gary Lane with 188 yards rushing and 200 yards passing.
In addition to the 57,000 fans, the game will be viewed by scouts from the Orange, Cotton and Sugar bowls.

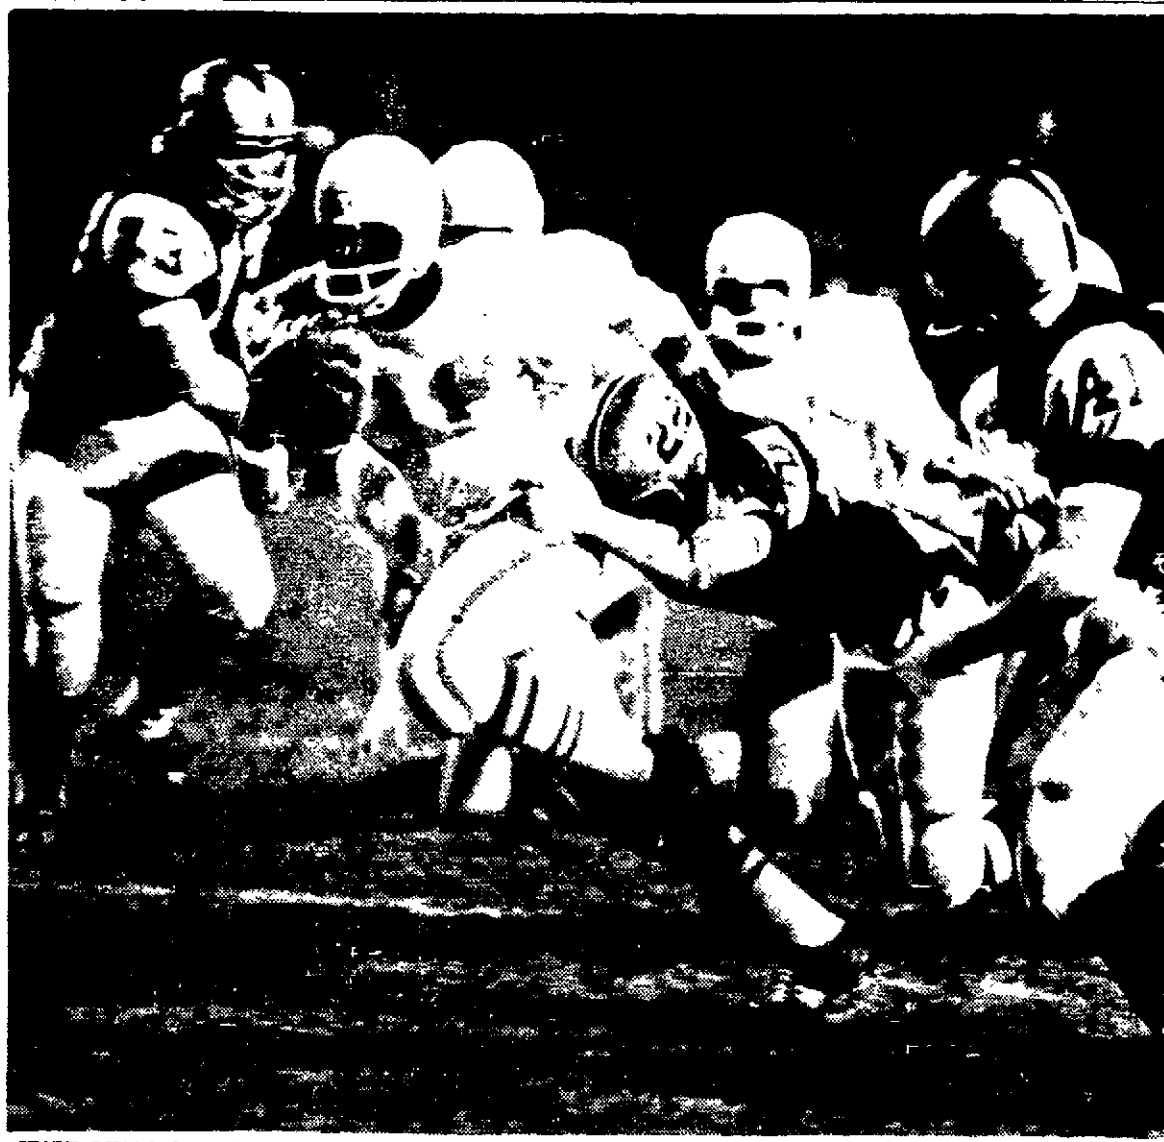

MISSOURI FROSH DOWN NU

Tigers End Seven-Game Husker Win Streak, 14-6

... INTERCEPTED PASS BEGINNING OF END

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor
Columbia, Mo.—Missouri's freshmen ended a seven-game winning streak with a 14-6 victory over the Huskers here Friday afternoon before 5,200 fans, more than half of them from the Cornhusker State.
The loss was the first for a Nebraska freshman team since the Bob Devaney regime started at NU with John Melton as frosh coach.
An intercepted pass midway in the fourth quarter as Nebraska struggled to come from behind meant the end of the Husker streak.
Trailing 7-6 and operating deep in his own territory, NU quarterback Frank Patrick faded into the end zone on a pass play while being chased, the 6-foot 7-inch, 210-pounder from Derry, Pa., tossed the ball away in an effort to avert a two-point safety.
But Missouri's John Kazzyak picked off the pass at the goal line and stepped into the end zone. When Bill Sangster kicked his second extra point conversion, Missouri had a 14-6 lead with 8:15 left in the game.
The next two times Nebraska had the ball they were unable to move past the mid-field stripe and the winning streak was ended.
Nebraska's offense spent most of the first three quarters in Missouri territory, but fumbles, penalties, and other errors stopped all but one drive as the Huskers fell behind, 7-6, at halftime.
The Husker yearlings drove to a third and one situation at the Missouri 14 early in the game, but an illegal procedure penalty and a five-yard loss by Patrick stopped that march, forcing Dennis Galbraith to try a field goal from the 32 which fell short.
Nebraska moved to the Missouri 43 in the second quarter and Patrick then hit Dick Davis on a 19-yard pass play, but Davis fumbled and Missouri recovered at its own 24.
At this point, Missouri started its first touchdown march that covered the 76 yards in eight plays with a pass from Stephen Sharp to Larry Moore gobbling up 53 of the yards.
Rene Vereecken carried the final yard for the touchdown and Sangster kicked the extra point for a 7-0 Missouri lead with 5:18 left in the first half.
Nebraska got its only score near the end of the half, starting a drive at their own 34 and moving into the Missouri end zone 11 plays later.
An offside penalty on Missouri kept the Husker drive going at midfield. With a third and eleven situation at the Nebraska 45, Patrick fumbled and although Sam Buda recovered for the Huskers at the 37, it meant Nebraska would have been faced with a fourth and 19.
However, Missouri was off-sides on the play, making it third and six at the 37. Patrick then hit Nestor Yannon with a 10-yard pass and Davis for 22 yards, putting the ball at the Missouri 18.
The final 14 yards came on a pass from Patrick to Sherwin Jarmon who made a leaping catch between two Missouri defenders in the end zone with 49 seconds left in the first half.
Galbraith's attempted extra point kick that would have tied the score was blocked, leaving Missouri with a 7-6 halftime advantage.

Nebraska had drives stopped at the Missouri 23, 29 and 38-yard lines in the second half before the interception of Patrick's pass gave the Tigers an easy insurance touchdown.
Patrick hit 16 of 29 pass attempts for 179 yards, while Tom Penney was the Huskers' leading rusher with 39 yards on nine carries.
The loss leaves Nebraska with a 1-1 record after an opening win over Kansas State and Missouri is also 1-1 with an opening loss to Iowa State.

Links Shun Bellevue

... LHS EARNS PLEASING 6-0 VICTORY

Lincoln High worked for an early touchdown and then matched second-ranked Bellevue muscle for muscle Friday night to earn a pleasing 6-0 victory at Seacrest Field.
Bellevue appeared goalward-bound the first time it had the ball as it knifed away at the Link defense at five yards a crack.
But at the LHS 49, Roger Struble fumbled, and Lincoln High's Jim Riggins recovered it.
Riggins then carried for two successive five-yard gains and Bellevue took a 15-yard penalty for a face mask infraction to give Lincoln High the ball on the Bellevue 17-yard line.
At that point Dave Will sprinted around left end on a reverse for nine more yards and on the next play a determined Charles King banged into the end zone, pulling a couple of Chiefsians eight yards with him. The point after was blocked with 5:52 left in the opening period.
At that time the missed conversion looked like it could be the downfall of the Links, if the Chiefsians could put something together resulting in a touchdown. They didn't.
Whenever Bellevue, which had beaten seven foes before-

KANSAS FROSH BLANK K-STATE

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — The Kansas freshman football team took advantage of five intercepted passes and a recovered fumble Friday to defeat the Kansas State freshmen 28-0. It was the third consecutive victory of the season for the KU frosh.
An off-side penalty against the Wildcats on a KU punt saved the Jayhawk drive after the opening kickoff. Two plays later Don Shanklin scored on a 40-yard sprint on a pitchout from quarterback Bob Douglass.
Linebacker Micky Doyle recovered a Wildcat fumble on the K-State 18 to set up the second KU score.
Runs of 30 yards by Shankline and 24 yards by Douglass sparked the drive for the third KU score early in the third period.
KU went 42 yards after taking a K-State punt to score midway in the final period.

Prep Senior Dies Of Football Injuries

Salinas, Calif. (AP) — Ruben Perez, senior defensive half-back and punter for the North Salinas High School football team, died Thursday night of a head injury.
The coroner's inquest report Friday said the 18-year-old player's death was the result of a cerebral hemorrhage and traumatic brain injury.

Gibson, Grant Top Majors in Runs Given Up In 1965

New York (AP)—Righthander Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals and Jim Muecat Grant of the Minnesota Twins each gave up 34 home runs to lead the major leagues in 1965, the final averages revealed Friday.
Gibson allowed four more gopher balls than Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers, the National League runner-up. Gibson pitched 299 innings and Drysdale 308.
Statistics compiled by the Associated Press also showed that Washington's Phil Ortega permitted 33 home runs, only one less than Grant although he worked 90 fewer innings than the Twins' ace. Grant hurled 270 innings and Ortega 180 in American League competition.

Scarce Deer Permits Snapped Up By Hunters

Deer rifle permits for the Pine Ridge Unit are almost sold out, the Game Commission reported Friday.
Only 11 permits remained of the 4,500 authorized there. Hunters snapped up 238 Pine Ridge permits during the week, as well as 188 permits for other units. There were 1,050 permits of the 24,150 sanctioned still available.

Revenge May Be Motive In NWU-William Jewell Game

Revenge may be the motive when Nebraska Wesleyan's unbeaten football team travels to Liberty, Mo., Saturday for a crucial contest with twice-beaten William Jewell.
In the last 17 football games which Wesleyan has played, the only loss has come at the hands of the Missourians, a 21-13 defeat which spoiled the Plainsman Homecoming celebration last season.
Saturday's game will be Homecoming for William Jewell.
"We'd like to get to them," says Wesleyan coach Ray Westover. "We'd like to spoil their Homecoming."
William Jewell, despite its pair of losses in six starts, obviously is a good football team, and it will have the advantage of playing at home in front of the Homecoming crowd.
At the moment, it looms as the toughest game in Wesleyan's season so far and the biggest threat to the Plainsmen's current six-game winning streak.
The only common foe has been Colorado College. Wesleyan whipped the Colorados, 20-7, three weeks ago. William Jewell won a 30-14 decision last week. Both games were at Colorado Springs.
Wesleyan will have to contend with the same type of modified single-wing attack which caused it so much trouble in last Friday's 13-7 decision over Missouri Valley at Lincoln.
The Missourians will be improved because tailback Jack Patterson, sidelined most of the season with a rib injury, is healthy again and will be back at full strength.
He will team with fullback Phil Colwell and wingback Terry Bashor, the top rusher so far, in a ground attack which promises to give Wesleyan all it can handle.
Wesleyan's best rusher is Bill Rohrig, averaging almost six yards a carry with 416 yards in 70 trips. The Plainsmen also have top ball-carriers in Willis Weisbrook and Gary Muehlhausen, plus a

... JETER, ALLERS DOUBTFUL

The flu bug has hit two of Nebraska's top offensive linemen, it was disclosed Friday.
Tight end Tony Jeter and right guard LaVerne Allers spent Thursday night in the University Health Center.
Allers was running a temperature of 103 and Jeter, a temperature of 101.
Temperatures of both were back to normal Friday.

Re-Examination Is Apparently Out For Cassius Clay

Louisville, Ky. (AP)—Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, floored twice by Army intelligence tests, apparently isn't due for a rematch any time in the future.
The question arose after the defense team announced Thursday that it was lowering intelligence standards for draftees and volunteers to get more men for the Viet Nam buildup.
But Kentucky Selective Service officials said Friday they have been informed by the department that "it would not be desirable at the present time" to re-test persons who flunked the test when standards were higher.

But as of Friday morning Allers looked "like he was pretty good shape," the doctor said. "He was raring to go. And Tony wasn't too bad either."

"It was decided to take them along with the understanding that if they didn't show a lot of improvement, they wouldn't play tomorrow."

Jeter, who would be difficult to replace on the offensive unit, also has been counted on to help out defensively if needed because of the absence of top defensive end Langston Coleman, recovering from a shoulder injury.

Dwight Tietjen, last year's most valuable player as an offensive end and defensive halfback, will make the trip this weekend, marking the first time he has been even tentatively available since suffering a severe ankle sprain a month ago against St. Mary. It still is doubtful if he will see much action.

Also on the dubious list are safety Dennis Gordon and guard Bob Olson, both hampered by knee injuries.

Pistons Stage Comeback Rally To Upset Celts

Detroit — Ray Scott bagged a short turn around jump with two seconds left to play Friday night and enabled the Detroit Pistons to beat the Boston Celtics 108-106.

It was the first time since Feb. 24, 1964, that the Pistons had managed to beat the world champions. It was only their second triumph in 28 games over a three-year period with the Celtics.

Trailing 60-40 at the half and 91-80 with four minutes of the final period gone, the Pistons roared back on the shooting of Eddie Miles and rookie Bill Buntin, finally going ahead for the first time on a jumper by Miles.

Seward Concordia 13, Norris 12

Seward-Concordia secured its fifth win of the season Friday night as it squeaked past a determined Norris crew 13-12 to claim second place in the Atlas conference.

Norris drew first blood on a pass interception in the first quarter, then watched Seward-Concordia quarterback Rod Gieselmann unleash a pass barrage which netted two TD's in the second quarter. The difference of the game came on the second tally as Gieselmann ran for the only extra point of the contest.

In the third quarter, another pass theft set up a second Norris score, but the try for the PAT failed to finish the scoring.

Turkeys, Quail New Targets

Nebraska's excellent mixed-bag hunting get another boost this weekend with today's statewide opening of the quail season. Turkey hunters will also hit the fields and canyons for their nine-day season beginning today.

After the opening weekend crash, pressure on pheasants tapered off during the week, but will pick up again with the weekend. Harold Orr of Ainsworth had a group of gunners from Pennsylvania hunting with him for five days. They left for home Thursday with their limits of pheasants, grouse, and ducks.

State Senator George Syas of Omaha and three other gunners got their limits of pheasants before noon on opening day in Boone County. His party included Robert E. n. George Heekel, and Wayne Bolt.

Statewide, hunting conditions are still tough. Although Game Commission conservators report plenty of birds, there is plenty of cover for them to take refuge in. Sportsmen willing to get off their seats and on their feet are bringing in the birds.

A capsule report by area:

SOUTHWEST
Officers predict a "real good season." Best quail areas are the Red Springs and Platte river drainages. Best pheasant areas during the week were areas around Wallace and Arnold. Hunters are doing well at Lake Malheur and Sacramento Game Management Area.

PANHANDLE
Field reports indicate "more than enough pheasants" to go around, especially in areas around Alliance, Hay Springs, and Miracle. Turkey season should be "real good," although the birds are more scattered than in previous years. Turkeys are ranging farther afield than in the past, but technicians note that this is an indication of a good population. Flocks with from 11 to 15 birds have been spotted. Duck hunting should be good along the North Platte River, and there are 3,000 birds on Lake Oahe. Total of approximately 10,000 ducks in South Platte County. River shooting is best early in the morning. Snipe and geese should be completed next week, and corn picking is under way.

SAND HILLS
Lozan County appears to be the best bet for pheasant hunters. Gunners are urged to get out of the car and hunt their birds. Good numbers of turkeys are being sighted for the opener. Duck hunting is good on Merritt Reservoir. Mice is about 85 per cent harvested, with corn about 15 per cent out.

NORTHEAST
Best pheasant hunting is reported in south and central areas. In the morning snipe and geese are demanding. In best and widest localities appeared to be the morning snipe and geese. Cover is heavy and dry, turkeys difficult.

SOUTHEAST
As in the past years, quail hunting should be good in the southeast. Pheasant hunters are doing well in soil benches. In demanding that turkeys be permitted to be hunted, but it is generally granted. Some limits on rinks are being removed, with gunners generally averaging about two birds per man. Best areas seem to be parts of Saline, Seward, York, and Fillmore counties.

NCAA Asked To Reconsider TV Blackout

Washington — The Federal Air Communication Commission (NCAA) to reconsider its blackout of local televising of Notre Dame University football games.

NCAA rules would permit television coverage of Notre Dame home games in South Bend, Ind. by station WNDU-TV.

But the NCAA's television committee banned such telecasts when it learned a community antenna television system was picking up the signals and relaying them to cable subscribers beyond the South Bend area.

Horse Flaunts Odds For Big Daily Double

Pawtucket, R.I. — With a 100-1 shot winning the first race, the daily double at Narragansett Park Friday paid a whopping $3,513 for $2.

The big payoff was formed by Sarge, who returned $202.20 after taking the first race, and Guemes, who paid $26 for his victory in the second.

Buffalo scored 400 points in winning the AFL title in 1964.

Aussie Open Lead Taken By Nicklaus

Adelaide, Australia — Jack Nicklaus fired the lowest round of his professional career — a 10 under-par 63 — and rocketed four strokes ahead of faltering Gary Player with 129 Friday in the second round of the Australian Open Golf Championship.

The 210-pou Masters titleholder from Columbus, Ohio, using only 25 putts, canned 10 birdies and didn't have a single bogey in touring the 6,578-yard, par 73 Kooyonga course in 32-31.

South Africa's Player, who shot 28-34-62 in the first round, went nine shots higher with a scattershot 71 that dropped him to second place at 133.

Two strokes back came a pair of tough Australians — Aussie PGA champion Kel Nagle, with 67-68, and former Open champion Frank Phillips, 71-64.

"This is the best score I ever shot in professional play," Nicklaus said. "When I was 15 I shot 3 five times, but it was practice stuff."

Player, disappointed with his round, said the three finishing holes killed him. He played them 5-4 compared with Nicklaus' 4-3-3.

he sensational rounds by Player and Nicklaus in the first two days of the tournament are among the best ever shot in a national championship but they fall short of world record recognition.

The U.S. Professional Golfers Association lists 60 as the best competitive 18-hole round, a mark shared by seven men, including Mike Souchak, who in 1955 fired a world record 27 for one nine over the Breckenridge course in San Antonio, Tex.

The listed world record for a legitimate tournament is 59, shot by Sam Snead in the Sam Snead Festival over the Greenbrier course in May, 1959. Player was in the three-some with Snead at the time.

Snead's 59 is not recognized by the PGA because the tournament at the time failed to meet the PGA's purse requirements.

"It was listed tournament but a sanctioned PGA event was run in competition with it," a spokesman of the American PGA said in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla.

The Kooyonga course is a flat layout with the only hills being man-made mounds rising at 20 feet. The fairways are wide. The rough has been burned out by a recent dry spell, providing little cover for errant shots.

Wagner Likes Defense Now

When Lee Wagner was an all-city performer at Lincoln High, he played mostly offense. Defense was the thing one did when the other team had the ball.

So when he hooked up with the Lincoln Comets, Wagner figured he'd carry the ball, having proved he could handle that job during his prep days.

But Lee's about the smallest guy (5-10, 175) in the Professional Football League of America. "To be a running back, you have to be a little bit larger," is how Lee puts it.

So defense remained, of course, and though he was a good cornerback for the Links, his defensive experience was minimal. To complicate things, he was put at a new position—safety—to utilize his speed. Fortunately, for the Comets, he's developed into a dependable safety with the knowhow that comes from experience—all gained during his prep days.

"At first I didn't know where I was going," Lee says. "But I know I've learned a lot since the season started. I learned a lot just during that first game with Omaha."

His problems don't end with being new to safety or with his smallness either.

"Everything is a lot faster now," he says. "In high school the plays developed a lot slower and there wasn't much passing. Now they throw the ball about 60 to 70% of the time."

That means Wagner has to make the decision whether to lay back for the pass or hustle up when opponents run. Experience and a little natural intuition have helped here.

"On runs you have to come up real fast . . . and they send some pretty big men after you." That's Lee's view on running.

"The ends (going after passes) aren't real fast but they sure know the moves to get out there . . . and the quarterbacks know how to thread that needle," he says of the opponents' passing.

So, though the jump from high school to the PFL has been steep, Wagner has adjusted during the season to playing against mostly college-honed players.

"I'm starting to like defense now," Wagner says. "I feel a little more comfortable."

He has two interceptions this season but Wagner's highlight game was against Joliet, the league leader, when he made eight unassisted tackles on Charles Billings, the 265-pound bench-moth fullback.

Wagner first learned about first-year Comets through the newspaper and sent in his application to fulfill a yearning to get back to football after missing a season.

Wager, 20, works in a Lincoln sporting goods store, and he and his wife Barb have a son Todd, 6 months.

State Coaches Favor Change

Kearney — Coaches from Districts 4 and 5 of the Nebraska State Education Association Friday went on record in favor of medals for the first 10 places in cross country meets.

They also suggested that individual medals be given to district and state championship teams in all sports.

They voted that cross-country meets should be changed to allow seven entries, scoring five and using two as "pushers."

They suggested that track meets be split into A-B and C-D divisions and be staged one week apart. In recommending scoring of six places in district and state meets, they said it should be on the basis of 10, 8, 6, 4, 2, 1 points.

Also favored were district meets in golf.

Fred Northrup of Grand Island was elected president, with Bill McCowin of Lexington, vice president, and Robert Lee of Grand Island, secretary-treasurer.

League-Leading GB Invades Chicago

By MIKE RATHET

New York — Four weeks ago the Chicago Bears beat the Green Bay Packers—in the second half. This time they'll do it for a full game.

The first time the two teams met the Packers built a 20-0 halftime lead, then the Bears finally put their offense together and Green Bay had to hold on for a 23-14 victory. The Bears went on to win their next three games and, it says here, they'll make the Packers victim No. 4.

Last week's record was 7-4 for 42-23 overall and a .646 percentage. Here we go again all games Sunday: National League

Chicago 21, Green Bay 17 —The Bears suddenly have developed into a fine offensive outfit behind quarterback Rudy Bukich, No. 1 in the league statistics, and rookie Gale Sayers. The Western Division leading Packers have been sputtering, and last week came up with minus 10 yards passing.

Cleveland 35, Minnesota 28 —The Browns, leading the East with a 5-1 record, have momentum, a four-game winning streak and Jimmy Brown.

Fran Tarkenton passed for over 400 yards for Vikings last week but Minnesota gave up 41 points. You don't do that against Cleveland.

St. Louis 31, New York 21 —The Cardinals, second in the East at 4-2, need a victory to keep up with the Browns. However, Buddy Humphreys still may be at quarterback in place of Charley Johnson. The Giants may be suffering from bubble-bursting loss to Browns last week.

Baltimore 28, San Francisco 24 —The Colts, runners-up in the West at 5-1, had considerable trouble against Los Angeles last week and may have more against the 49ers. But Johnny Unitas figures to have the edge over John Brodie in a top quarterback duel.

Dallas 21, Pittsburgh 14 —Bob Hayes returns to Cowboy line-up and may give the offense the lift it needs to snap a four-game losing streak. The Steelers, who won their first last week, still can't score enough.

Detroit 28, Los Angeles 27 —George Izo takes over at quarterback, and with running back Joe Don Looney, pulls the Lions through after three straight losses. Bill Munson continues to improve at quarterback for Rams but Detroit has top defense.

Washington 35, Philadelphia 21 —The Redskins, who finally won last week, may be ready to start their long-awaited move. The Eagles

$6.9 Million In U.S. Funds Allocated To Nebraska Schools

The State Education Department Saturday announced the allocation of $6,920,191 in federal funds to nearly 1,400 Nebraska districts under the new Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

The funds, which must be spent by next September, are to be used to finance programs for educationally deprived children from families with annual incomes of less than $2,000.

The Omaha School District received the largest slice, $749,196, followed by Lincoln's $244,165, Fremont's $121,542, Grand Island's $114,416, and Beatrice's $104,447.

Jack Krueger, administrator of the elementary and secondary education act for the State Education Department, said the allocations were based on a formula for determining the percentage of low-income pupils in each district.

No Matching

He noted matching state and local funds are not required to make use of the federal grants, and he expects "a great number of districts" will establish programs under the act.

He predicted that within two weeks the state department will approve the first local program in Nebraska under the act.

He said the Lincoln, Broken Bow and Niobrara districts already have submitted formal project proposals and many other districts are expected to file proposals soon.

However, he said it will be "extremely difficult" for the poorer rural elementary school districts to establish programs under the act because of strict federal requirements on administration of the programs.

The $6,910,191 was available to Nebraska under Title One of the Elementary and Secondary Act.

Other titles of the act will provide another $1,500,000 plus to the state to establish supplementary education centers and services, to improve school libraries and textbooks and to strengthen the state education department.

The title one allocations by county, including only those districts receiving more than $20,000 each:

Adams: $23,783; Hastings $68,373.
Antelope: $81,184; Neligh $22,572.
Bosque: $111,645; Albion $25,271.

Boc: $43,665; Alliance $22,101.
Burd: $137,686; Spencer $45,861; Lynch $31,465.

Brown: $38,285; Amesbury $24,384.
Buffalo: $100,220; Kearney $51,075.
Burt: $94,006; Tekamah $25,015.
Cady: $11,433; Beatrice $104,447.
Cass: $67,214; Plattsmouth $42,222.
Cedar: $18,810; Hartington $25,814; Coleridge $22,350; Randolph $27,442; Laurel $27,387.

'Long Shot' Measured In Montana

Washington (AP)—The Defense Department reported Friday that its seismic detection station in Montana has reported receiving signals from the underground test explosion of a thermonuclear device in the Aleutian Islands, about 3,200 miles away.

The signals from the "Long Shot" test on Amchitka Island were received at the Montana station eight minutes and 29 seconds after U.S. scientists touched off the blast, which had the explosive equivalent of 80,000 tons of TNT.

The test, twice delayed by unfavorable winds, was detonated at 3 p.m. CST.

Cal Tech

The California Institute of Technology at Pasadena recorded the shock 8 minutes and 36 seconds later.

University of California

University of California seismograph at Berkeley detected the signal from the nuclear underground test explosion at 3:07 p.m. CST, a spokesman announced.

The shock produced a reading of 5.5 on the Richter scale. The Alaska earthquake in 1964 produced an 8.4 Richter reading.

The blast, four times more powerful than the atomic bombs of World War II, was set off from a control station seven miles from the capped well hole where the device was buried. It had been delayed since Wednesday by unfavorable weather.

Preliminary results of the blast awaited aerial inspection. It was not expected to break through the heavy plug of sand and concrete.

Post Shock

A monitor reported the command post got a final report that there was no seismic activity around the world to interfere with earth waves generated by the blast.

Preliminary results of the test may be known in a day or two; complete analysis will take months.

There was no secrecy in Project Long Shot. Scientists on both sides of the Iron Curtain were notified in advance and invited to record the effects.

Treaty Support

One benefit from the $10 million test may be support for the American position on an international nuclear test ban treaty. This country holds an effective treaty must provide for inspections at suspected nuclear test sites—such as Long Shot could help in pinpointing.

Amchitka's location was ideal for the test.

Its location several thousand miles from Defense Department monitoring stations provided a test of long-distance detection equipment. And it is near the center of an earthquake belt where frequent natural shocks permit comparison with the nuclear explosion.

MISS TEEN '66

Colette Agnes Daulte, 16, a Paramus, N.J., brunette entered as Miss New York City, Friday night was crowned Miss Teen-Age America of 1966 in Dallas.

Runners-up were Cynthia Ann Byrum, 17, of Charlotte, N.C., and Miss Detroit, Judy Jacob of Southfield, Mich.

Luci Reported Seeking Dad's Okay To Wed

Johnson City, Tex. (UPI)—Luci Baines Johnson and her Waukegan, Ill., boy friend, Pat Nugent, flew to the LBJ Ranch Friday, and, close friends said, planned to try to gain President Johnson's consent to their marriage.

The President's wife, Lady Bird, reportedly has already given consent to her younger daughter's marriage.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, press secretary for Mrs. Johnson, said Luci and Nugent arrived at the ranch aboard a Jetstar aircraft.

In Waukegan, Nugent's parents expressed surprise at the news.

Luci reportedly broke the news to her father while he was at Bethesda Naval Hospital, recovering from gall bladder and kidney stone surgery.

The friend said Luci must still win consent from her father, and she hopes to do that this weekend.

Nugent, like Luci, is a Roman Catholic.

Walker Awarded $3 Million

Shreveport, La. (AP)—Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker was awarded a $3 million libel judgment Friday against the Associated Press and the New Orleans Times-Picayune Publishing Corp.

An all-male Caddo Parish (county) Civil Court jury deliberated one hour and 55 minutes in deciding that Walker was libeled in an AP account of his activities during the 1962 desegregation riots at the University of Mississippi.

Defense lawyers immediately moved in court to have the jury's verdict set aside and also moved for a mistrial, on grounds that the awards exceeded the amount of $2,250,000 in damages alleged in Walker's complaint.

Dist. Judge William Woods reserved decision on the motions and discharged the jury. In his instructions to the jury, Woods had declared, "No one may recover more for any item of damage than the amount sued for."

The AP said any judgment lodged against it will be appealed.

It was the second award Walker has won as an outgrowth of the University of Mississippi riots. The Associated Press, as sole defendant, currently is appealing a $500,000 libel judgment outstanding in Fort Worth, Tex., in favor of Walker.

Similar suits filed by Walker against the Associated Press and newspapers in these cities have been dismissed in Denver, Kansas City and Louisville.

Walker, 55, claimed the Associated Press falsely described him as assuming command of Ole Miss rioters Sept. 30, 1962, and leading them on a charge against U.S. marshals. Two persons were killed in disorders that arose over the admission to the University of Negro James Meredith.

The Times-Picayune Publishing Corp. was named in the current suit because its newspapers in New Orleans carried the AP riot story under an Oxford, Miss., dateline.

Civil Rights Workers Vote To Renew Alabama Marches

Selma, Ala. (AP)—Representatives of several civil rights and religious organizations voted Friday to renew street demonstrations in Alabama and other Southern areas where they believe accused slayers of civil rights workers have not been brought to justice.

The Rev. Andrew Young, executive secretary of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said the vote in favor of such demonstrations was overwhelming.

The three-hour session was held behind closed doors. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., president of the SCLC, did not attend. His office said he was in New York for a speaking engagement.

Agreement

"There was overwhelming agreement that something had to be done to put an end to the murder and brutality that reigns in the South, and ultimately the people will have to work this out," Young said.

But when demonstrations are to begin was left undecided. Young said a final decision on renewal of demonstrations and when to hold them would come from King in Atlanta.

The meeting in the Browns Chapel AME church, headquarters for the massive voter registration campaign here several months ago, drew an estimated 100 to 150 persons.

Focal Point

In remarks to newsmen prior to the conference, Young said he thought "Hayneville would inevitably be the focal point" if demonstrations are renewed.

At Hayneville, located about 35 miles east of here in Lowndes County, two men accused of slaying civil rights volunteers were acquitted recently in separate trials.

As possible sites for demonstrations, Young also listed Birmingham, Selma, Anniston, Gadsden, Huntsville and Marion.

Another objective of the demonstrations, Young said, would be to dramatize what he termed a need for federal legislation which would protect civil rights workers.

Legion Pins Will Support Fighting Men

State American Legion Commander Jim Harrison of Morrill said Friday 10 million Americans are expected in the near future to be wearing a metal lapel pin depicting the American flag with the words, "Show your colors."

It's part of a nationwide American Legion program called "Operation Show Your Colors," in support of Americans in Viet Nam and U.S. policy there.

The lapel pins, along with wallet size cards carrying the words, "Operation Show Your Colors," will be given free by the Legion.

"The demonstrations on our university and college campuses by students protesting our Viet Nam policy is deplorable and disgusting," Harrison said.

Town Fathers Won't Get Lost, With Any Luck

Duxbury, Mass. (AP)—The selectmen of Pen-broke and Duxbury will make another attempt Saturday to make the annual check of town boundary posts.

This time they will take compasses and a blaz-ing equipment. Last week the selectmen got lost in the woods trying to find the boundary lines.

Vatican City (UPI)—The Ecumenical Council Friday gave nearly unanimous final approval to a major decree which opens a new role for scripture in the Roman Catholic Church and paves the way for Christians at long last to unite behind a common Bible.

10 Executed For Revolt In Burundi

Leopoldville, The Congo (AP)—Ten high Burundians, including Emile Burundi, president of the national assembly, were executed in Burundi this week for a revolt Oct. 19, reports reaching Leopoldville said Friday.

Another high official shot was Gervais Nyangoma, director-general of Premier Leonard Biha's cabinet. Biha was wounded in the revolt. All those executed were shot Tuesday night or Wednesday morning in the sports stadium at Bujumbura, the capital. Thirty-four others had earlier been executed in the stadium.

Mrs. Whittemore Dies; Descendant Of Town Founder

Adams—Martha A. Whittemore, 88, granddaughter of the founder of Adams, died in Beatrice Friday.

Her grandfather, John Adams, founded the town. She was born in a log cabin near the present site of Adams in 1877 and was a member of the first graduating class of Adams High School.

Survivors include sons Robert G. of Carson City, Nev., and Donald E. and Dayton N., both of Lincoln, and eight grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Adams Methodist Church with burial in the Highland Cemetery.

in 1962, was 2,081 in favor of only 27 against.

The document, dealing with the sources of revelation, was the sixth to be completed at this session.

It treats one of the most sensitive issues in Christianity—the question of how the truth of divine revelation reaches the church.

A U.S. council expert, the Rev. Barnabas Ahearn, a Passionist father from Louisville, Ky., and an editor of "The Bible Today," said the final, forward-looking version of the decree laid "a basic common meeting ground" for Catholics and Protestants.

Funeral Rites Set Monday For Sanden

Services for Carl E. Sanden, 73, 1712 Ryons, who died Thursday, will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at Roper & Sons', 4300 O.

Mr. Sanden was president of the Lincoln Yellow Cab Co.

A 1918 graduate of the University of Nebraska Law School, Mr. Sanden was born in Sweden.

Mr. Sanden was a member of the Lancaster, Nebraska, and American Bar Association; U. of N. Alumni Association; Past Master Lodge 19 AF&AM; Lincoln Consistory; Scottish Rite; Sesostris Temple; Past Worthy Patron Chapter 8 OES; Optimists; Chapter 6 Royal Arch Masons; Lincoln Council 4; Royal Select Masters; Knights Templar, and Mount Moriah Commandery 4.

Survivors include his widow, Bertha; a son, Damon; a daughter, Mrs. Marjorie Miller, all of Los Angeles, Calif.; brothers, Walt of Lincoln, Jack of Hemet, Calif., and William of Englewood, Calif.; sisters, Mrs. Ruth Anderson of Lincoln, Miss Hanna of Englewood; Mrs. Anne Green of Hemet, Mrs. Margaret Toth of Olympia, Wash., and two grandchildren.

The governor and other Nebraskans are on a three-week trade mission in Europe to expand and develop business interest contacts.

Politics In Kansas City Youth Corps Probed

Kansas City, Kan. (UPI)—The role of politics in hiring young persons for a youth corps project was under investigation Friday after it was discovered that one youth who drives a new sports car was taken into the program.

John M. Ekeberg, regional director for the corps, said there were wide-scale violations in the Kansas City, Kan., project involving perhaps half of the 150 youths hired last summer.

Daniel Schorr, CBS Newsman, To Speak Here

Daniel Schorr, chief of the Columbia Broadcasting System news bureau in Germany, will speak at the University of Nebraska Wednesday in connection with International Week activities at the Nebraska Union.

Schorr will speak on "Germany: Twenty Years Later" at 3:30 p.m. in the Nebraska Union ballroom. He is considered an expert on Iron Curtain countries and formerly was head of the CBS news bureau in Moscow.

Other activities during International Week at the Nebraska Union include: German travel film, 7 p.m. Monday, Union auditorium; German film entitled "The Bridge," 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Union ballroom; displays on Germany in the Union lounge, and international foods.

Shoddy record-keeping was blamed in part for the situation in which many of the youths hired were ineligible from the standpoint of need.

Ekeberg said the federal government would seek return of possibly $20,000 involved in payments to youths not qualified for the program and said the city would be expected to refund the money.

"I imagine it will do so on a voluntary basis," Ekeberg said.

The program, which ended in August, was designed to provide work for students who might otherwise have to drop out of school.

The criteria set an upper income limit of $1,990 for a youth employed under 20 hours weekly and his single parent, an upper income limit of $2,440 for a family of four.

Cornpicker Drops On Falls City Man

Falls City, Neb. (UPI)—Benjamin E. Yoessel, 60, of Falls City, was killed Thursday when a cornpicker he had jacked up fell off the jack and onto him.

His body was found Thursday evening by his wife who had gone to the Yoessel farm to investigate after her husband did not return home.

The farm is 11 miles southwest of Falls City in Brown County, Kan.

Survivors include Yoessel's wife, and a foster son, Gerald Nolte of Humboldt, Neb.

For Dropouts

Preference was to be given potential school dropouts, youths with poor school attendance, problems including speech defects and "lack of motivation."

But Ekeberg said the participants included one University of Kansas student who drove to classes in nearby Lawrence in a 1965 sports car. Another was the granddaughter of an official in the city government. Another was the stepson of an attorney

Two Taken Off Fatality List, 1 Added

The State Accident Records Bureau Friday removed two names from Nebraska's 1965 traffic fatality list, dropping the year's total to 319. One removal involved the name of Elmer G. Anderson, 81, of Neligh, who was injured Sept. 24 in a two-car collision in Neligh and died Oct. 13.

Accident Records Bureau director Thomas Ryan said the death certificate showed death to have resulted from causes other than the accident injuries.

Also dropped was the name of Mrs. Agnes Colgan of Sutton.

The bureau originally ruled that the 71-year-old woman died Oct. 17 in a Geneva hospital as a result of injuries suffered when the ambulance in which she was being transported collided with a car on U.S. Highway 6 northeast of Sutton on Oct. 16.

James Valenziano, 28, of Bellevue was added to the list. The State Safety Patrol said Valenziano was killed when his car struck a tree Thursday.
